Top Viet Airfield Bombed

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. jets bombed North Vietnam's biggest air base, the Phuc Yen field 18 miles northwest of Hanoi, for the first time in the war today. Air Force, Marine and Navy squadrons joined in a coordinated blow through heavy enemy fire.

Pilots said one MIG was shot down and another probably destroyed in aerial combat. Reconnaissance teams which photographed the field after the first strikes said the runway was badly cratered and out of action and that damaged and destroyed MIGs were scattered in many bombed-out revetments.

Phuc Yen was the fifth of North Vietnam's half-dozen fields housing the Soviet-designed fighters to come under American attack this year. Still off-limits by Washington order is the field at Gia Lam, three miles northeast of Hanoi and across the Red River. It is also the country's major civilian airport.

A U.S. spokesman said the Americans also encountered intense anti-aircraft and missile fire during the attack on Phuc Yen.

Credited with the kill was Air Force Maj. William L. Kirk, 35, of Rayville, La., who also shot down a MIG last May 13. His latest was the 90th MIG brought down by American pilots in aerial combat over North Vietnam as against 26 U.S. planes downed by MIGs.

The aerial action was announced as South Vietnamese infantrymen clashed with a guerrilla force just south of Saigon and the Viet Cong shelled two government positions less than 25 miles north of the capital.

The attack at Phuc Yen, which followed a weekend antiwar demonstration at the Pentagon, apparently was approved by President Johnson.

Air Force jets from Thailand bases, Navy planes from carriers in the Tonkin Gulf and Marine Corps bombers from bases in South Vietnam all converged on the Phuc Yen field.

Headquarters gave no indication of the number of planes participating.

U.S. headquarters made no mention of any American plane losses but pilots described the fire of anti-aircraft guns and Soviet-made missiles as heavy.

Two Traffic Cases Heard

Benjamin Marks, 224 Felker charged with felonious assault, was continued another week today in magistrate court.

Judge John D. Hux presided in the absence of Judge M.E. Montgomery. Scott County Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Tom Gilmore represented the state in cases heard.

Dewey E. Urban, 215 Tanner, charged with exceeding the speed limit, was fined $17.50 and costs. Leonard Jackson, Sikeston, charged with destroying private property, dismissed on payment of costs.

Samuel Catching, Hazelhurst, Miss., charged with obstructing traffic, fined $10 and costs.

Gary Grant Tells Of European Trip

Gary Grant, a high school senior, told the Rotary club of a Student Leaders of America sponsored trip he made to Europe June 25-July 26.

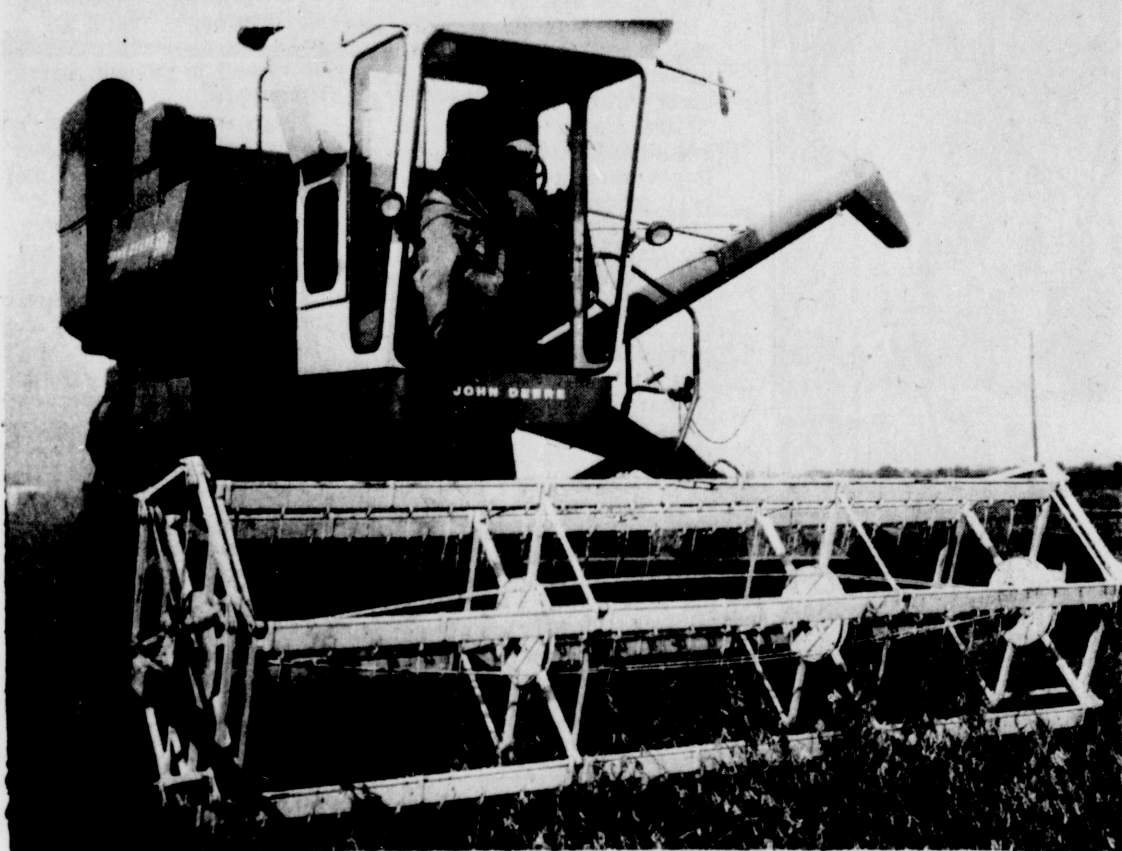

He showed colored slides of England, Holland, Belgium, France, Luxembourg, Germany, Italy and Austria and Monaco.

Dr. Frank Sisson introduced Grant and said that Greer Huff also made the European trip. Sherman Grant, father of Gary Grant, was a guest of the club and Edwin C. Willis was a guest of Paul R. Bumgarner.

Blazing Artillery Battle Breaks Suez Canal Calm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egyptian and Israeli forces fought a blazing artillery and mortar duel today at the southern end of the Suez Canal and Egypt claimed it shot down one of Israel's Mirage jet fighters.

An Egyptian communiqué also asserted four Israeli tanks were shot up in the fighting near Port Taufiq, which erupted only four days after Egyptian missiles sank the Israeli destroyer Elath in the most serious incident since the cease-fire in June.

An Israeli army spokesman said artillery fire hit and set aflame the oil refineries at Port Suez across the canal from Port Taufiq. He said the refineries were going up in smoke, cutting off part of Egypt's oil supply.

The spokesman asserted the Egyptians opened up with small arms and then loosed artillery fire, whereupon the Israelis on the east bank of the canal replied. One Israeli casualty was reported.

An Egyptian military communiqué accused the Israeli forces of opening up with machine guns. It admitted that oil refineries were burning.

Israel said U.S. truce observers were informed but both sides reported the firing was still going on.

COTTON matures slowly in a field on the C. M. Corlies farm, one mile north of Canalou. Bolls are three weeks behind normal opening. Many plants have three to five unopened bolls.

A BUMPER CROP of soybeans is forecast from the farm of Laverne Rettig, riding the combine, three miles north of Canalou, from 75 acres. More than 40 bushels to the acre were produced on irrigated land. A small acreage of certified seed went above the 50-bushel mark.

Fumes Block Boaters

DUBUQUE, Iowa (AP) — A Milwaukee railroad freight car loaded with highly explosive ammonia nitrate caught fire Monday night.

The normal parking ticket can cost the violator $1 if he waits more than 48 hours to pay it, and if a summons is issued after 48 hours, the delinquent parker is charged another $6 court costs.

The average monthly take from parking meters during the past six months were $1,511.65.

To check the city's 523 meters in the downtown area, Taylor normally walks. He wears out two or more pairs of high top shoes each year. He sometimes drives a police car and checks each meter about once every hour.

He also repairs broken meters, collects the weekly receipts and deposits the coins at a bank.

Several pay increases have been given policemen since 1956 but the department's men still are underpaid, Taylor said.

A clothing allowance of $25 a year has helped. The daily work routine was cut from 12 hours seven days a week to eight hours shifts, six days a week in 1956, and police are now allowed a one week paid vacation after one year. Two weeks paid vacation are given after two years.

The low pay, tongue lashings and other abuse he has taken in 25 years of police work have given him some less than rewarding moments.

When asked why he stuck with the police department longer than anyone else, he replied: "I like the work and I like people."

Three drivers were injured in a three vehicle collision last night at 11 p.m. on highway 84, one-fourth mile east of Hayti.

A 1967 Chevrolet, driven by Les Bradford, 27, Caruthersville, ran into the rear of a 1958 Chevrolet, driven by Clarence Stout, 49, Hayti, sending the Stout car across the pavement where it was struck by a 1965 GMC truck, driven by Rozell Alexander, 29, Dyersburg, Tenn.

Bradford and Stout were bruised on the forehead. Alexander suffered a concussion.

All were taken to the Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti.

Two were admitted Monday to the emergency room of the Missouri Delta Community hospital: Paul R. Harris, dropped concrete block on little finger; Tammy G. Tidwell, fell, cutting her tongue.

Time Nears For Special Session

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Before you know it in 1968 special legislative session will be here and preparations for it are already under way.

The comptroller and budget director, John C. Vaughn, said Monday budget review hearings will start the latter part of November or the first week in December. Then the governor's budget can be prepared and printed in its final form.

Only four agencies have not submitted their 1968-69 budgets. State auditor Haskell Holman has been ill and the other three are new agencies—the Department of Community Affairs and its technical services unit and the Division of Tourism.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has said he hopes to call the special session early in January. The theory is that the sooner he calls it, the less pressure he'll get for more money and new topics to be considered.

The 60-day special session may act only on the subjects he recommends.

One of the stickiest problems is going to be the amount available for capital improvements and this is not expected to be more than about $20 million.

Large billboards will be located at either end of the 210-mile segment advising motorists that "16 Shell stations are listening" for their calls.

The 16 Shell Oil Co. dealers and local, state and federal safety officials officially launched the program today at a luncheon here.

Participating service stations are located in Warrenton, Nelson, St. Charles, St. Ann, Wentzville, Kingdom City, Sweet Springs, Berkeley, Cool Valley, Boonville, Hazlewood, Columbia, Bridgeton and Florissant.

A driver whose car is equipped with citizens band radio can call on any one of several channels for information on routes, traffic and road conditions, lodging and so on. Channel 9 is reserved for emergency calls.

Local citizens groups have been monitoring citizens band emergency calls from motorists on a volunteer basis.

The Kansas City-St. Louis segment is the first in an eventual nationwide network of service station monitors.

Ham Radio Network to Aid I-70 Motorists

ST. LOUIS (AP)— Beginning today, Interstate highway 70 between St. Louis and Kansas City, will be less lonely and frightening for motorists in trouble.

Drivers of cars equipped with citizens band radios can now pick up a microphone and call 16 service stations for assistance or information.

The 16-station network along the 210 mile stretch of highway is an outgrowth of H.E.L.P.—the Highway Emergency Locating Plan.

H.E.L.P. was conceived last year by the Automobile Manufacturers Association to overcome the lack of emergency communications facilities along limited-access interstate highways.

Harvest Yields Big Bean Crop

by Leo Schade

Soybean harvesting is in full swing. A bumper crop is in prospect. Early beans have ripened and need to be combined before rain. With the price from $2.40 to $2.50, many farmers are placing their crops on federal loan. Others have stored the crop in their own bins, hoping prices will advance.

There was little damage from frost when the temperature dropped Oct. 10. Most late beans are assured of maturing if a heavy frost holds off one more week, per acre. This depends whether the only late beans that may be frost strikes in the next two days are those planted after weeks.

Opening of cotton bolls are three weeks late. As many as one fourth of the bolls are unopened. At best yields should average three-fourths to one half of the normal cotton crop was planted because of a wet Spring. Most farmers converted to soybeans.

Many farms will average from 35 to 45 bushels of beans per acre. Irrigated fields will produce as much as 50 bushels. Only 25 of the normal cotton crop was planted because of a wet Spring. Most farmers converted to soybeans.

Taylor Finds Rewards in Work Of Issuing Parking Tickets

Man on the bar stool, "That... Johnny Taylor. He got me again today. That makes the third time this week. I'd like to..."

Man at adjoining bar stool, "Now, now, he's just doing his job." Most policemen are subjected to being called unkind names behind their backs and to their faces. But Johnny V. Taylor, meterman three years and policeman 25 years, thinks he holds the record.

"When the Daily Standard held a contest for the friendliest most courteous employee last year, I thought about running and with a label reading, 'The most hated man in Sikeston,'" Taylor said. POLICE know they will receive abuse. Taylor is no exception. He expects criticism.

"The police chief tells me he knows I've been working when he gets a lot of complaints about parking tickets," he said. Taylor related that he doesn't think he makes any real enemies.

"Persons who get a ticket gripe a lot, but I don't think they mean anything personal by it," he mused. "It's only natural to gripe some when you get a parking ticket."

Taylor's a quiet mannered, fairly easy going man of 54, who joined the police department at 29. He had worked 10 years at the International Shoe Company factory and drove a taxicab for a year and a half.

"I became a patrolman in 1942, when air cadets were being trained for World War II at the Sikeston airport," he recalls. The police department has changed drastically for the better since then, he related.

From 1942, until about 1954, four men composed the department. The chief and a patrolman worked the 12-hour day shift and the assistant chief and another patrolman worked the nights.

also asserted four Israeli tanks were shot up in the fighting near Port Taufiq, which erupted only four days after Egyptian missiles sank the Israeli destroyer Elath in the most serious incident since the cease-fire in June.

An Israeli army spokesman said artillery fire hit and set aflame the oil refineries at Port Taufiq. He said the refineries were going up in smoke, cutting off part of Egypt's oil supply.

The spokesman asserted the Egyptians opened up with small arms and then loosed artillery fire, whereupon the Israelis on the east bank of the canal replied. One Israeli casualty was reported.

An Egyptian military communique accused the Israeli forces of opening up with machine guns. It admitted that oil refineries were burning.

Homecoming Dance Friday

The annual high school homecoming dance will be held from 9:30 p.m. until 11:30 p.m. following the Jackson-Sikeston football game Friday at the high school cafeteria. The game starts at 7:30 p.m. here.

Football players will select the homecoming queen this week. She will be crowned during the dance.

The normal parking ticket can cost the violator $1 if he waits more than 48 hours to pay it, and if a summons is issued after 48 hours, the delinquent parker is charged another $6 court costs.

The average monthly take from parking meters during the past six months were $1,511.65.

To check the city's 523 meters in the downtown area, Taylor normally walks. He wears out two or more pairs of high top shoes each year. He sometimes drives a police car and checks each meter about once every hour.

He also repairs broken meters, collects the weekly receipts and deposits the coins at a bank. Several pay increases have been given policemen since 1956 but the department's men still are underpaid, Taylor said.

A clothing allowance of $125 a year has helped. The daily work routine was cut from 12 hours seven days a week to eight hour shifts, six days a week in 1956, and police are now allowed a one week paid vacation after one year. Two weeks paid vacation are given after two years.

The low pay, tongue lashings and other abuse he has taken in 25 years of police work have given him some less than rewarding moments.

When asked why he stuck with the police department longer than anyone else, he replied: "I like the work and I like people."

Israel said U.N. truce observers were informed but both sides reported the firing was still going on.

The announcement came amid a clamor in Israel for vengeance against Egypt after its sinking of the Israeli destroyer Elath. But informed sources said the Israeli government planned no hasty reprisals and would "let the Arabs sweat it out for awhile."

Pinkerton Will Attend Meeting

Richard Pinkerton, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, will attend the Chamber of Commerce Executives of Missouri fall meeting Wednesday through Friday in Excelsior Springs.

Methods of improving chamber work will be discussed and a special session will be conducted on industrial development.

O'Toole to Star in Remake of 'Mr. Chips'

LONDON (AP) — Peter O'Toole, the British actor who brought Lawrence of Arabia to the screen, was named today for the starring role in a musical remake of "Goodbye Mr. Chips."

Pop singer Petula Clark has been picked to play Chips' wife—a part that made Greer Garson famous in the 1939 Hollywood movie.

COTTON matures slowly in a field on the C. M. Corlies farm, normal opening. Many plants have three to five unopened one mile north of Canalou. Bolls are three weeks behind bolls.

A BUMPER CROP of soybeans is forecast from the farm of Laverne Rettig, riding the combine, three miles north of Canalou, from 75 acres. More than 40 bushels to the acre were produced on irrigated land. A small acreage of certified seed went above the 50-bushel mark.

Time Nears For Special Session

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Before you know it in 1968 special legislative session will be here and preparations for it are already under way.

The comptroller and budget director, John C. Vaughn, said Monday budget review hearings will start the latter part of November or the first week of December. Then the governor's budget can be prepared and printed in its final form.

Only four agencies have not submitted their 1968-69 budgets. State auditor Haskell Holman has been ill and the other three are new agencies—the Department of Community Affairs and its technical services unit and the Division of Tourism.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has said he hopes to call the special session early in January. The theory is that the sooner he calls it, the less pressure he'll get for more money and new topics to be considered.

The 60-day special session may act only on the subjects he recommends. One of the stickiest problems is going to be the amount available for capital improvements and this is not expected to be more than about $20 million.

Three Drivers Hurt in Crash

Three drivers were injured in a three vehicle collision last night at 11 p.m. on highway 84, one-fourth mile east of Hayti.

A 1967 Chevrolet, driven by Les Bradford, 27, Caruthersville, ran into the rear of a 1958 Chevrolet, driven by Clarence Stout, 49, Hayti, sending the Stout car across the pavement where it was struck by a 1965 GMC truck, driven by Rozell Alexander, 29, Dyersburg, Tenn.

Bradford and Stout were bruised on the forehead. Alexander suffered a concussion. All were taken to the Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti.

Ham Radio Network to Aid I-70 Motorists

ST. LOUIS (AP)— Beginning today, Interstate highway 70 between St. Louis and Kansas City, will be less lonely and frightening for motorists in trouble.

Drivers of cars equipped with citizens band radios can now pick up a microphone and call 16 service stations for assistance or information.

The 16-station network along the 210 mile stretch of highway is an outgrowth of H.E.L.P.—the Highway Emergency Localizing Plan.

H.E.L.P. was conceived last year by the Automobile Manufacturers Association to overcome the lack of emergency communications facilities along limited-access interstate highways.

Local citizens groups have been monitoring citizens band emergency calls from motorists on a volunteer basis.

The Kansas City-St. Louis segment is the first in an eventual nationwide network of service station monitors.

A driver whose car is equipped with citizens band radio can call on any one of several channels for information on routes, traffic and road conditions, lodging and so on. Channel 9 is reserved for emergency calls.

Large billboards will be located at either end of the 210 mile segment advising motorists that "16 Shell stations are listening" for their calls.

The 16 Shell Oil Co. dealers and local, state and federal safety officials officially launched the program today at a luncheon here.

Participating service stations are located in Warrenton, Nelson, St. Charles, St. Ann, Wentzville, Kingdom City, Sweet Springs, Berkeley, Cool Valley, Boonville, Hazlewood, Columbia, Bridgeton and Florissant.

Two Injured

Two were admitted Monday to the emergency room of the Missouri Delta Community hospital: Paul R. Harris, dropped concrete block on little finger; Tammy G. Tidwell, fell, cutting her tongue.

Harvest Yields Big Bean Crop

by Leo Schade
Soybean harvesting is in full swing. A bumper crop is in prospect.

Early beans have ripened and need to be combined before rain. With the price from $2.40 to $2.50, many farmers are placing their crops on federal loan. Others have stored the crop in their own bins, hoping prices will advance.

There was little damage from frost when the temperature dropped Oct. 10. Most late beans are assured of maturing if a heavy frost holds off one more week. The only late beans that may be frost strikes in the next two weeks are those planted after the first week in July, following wheat harvest.

Man Reports Tornado Nips Shots Fired Wentzville

Roscoe Jones, Salcedo and Brown Spur Roads, reported to police at 10:45 p.m. Monday that some boys shot what he thought were rifle bullets through his bedroom window at about 10:30 p.m.

Jones told police that the boys were driving a white car and had shot at his house Saturday night. He returned fire with a shotgun Saturday night, police reported.

Deputy Sheriff Eddie Michael investigated.

In other activity, Michael DuBois, 402 East Gladys, was charged by police at 12:30 a.m. today with careless and imprudent driving by taking off at a high rate of speed, and operating a vehicle with an improper exhaust. He was stopped on East Malone, police reported.

Larry Wayne Allmon, 223 Taylor, was charged at 2 p.m. Monday with careless and imprudent driving on Reuben Street.

J. R. Lee Jr., Morley mail carrier, reported to police at 6:45 p.m. Monday that he lost a letter containing class cards. It had the name "Serv. All Cotton" and a grain, Morley. And a plain brown envelope containing papers to his 1967 Chevrolet, which are made out to him from Calvin Watson, Cairo, Ill.

The mail was with a bundle left on his right front fender when he drove from the Daily Standard office at 6:20 p.m. He drove north on New Madrid Street to East Kathleen, east damore.

He noticed the mail missing shortly thereafter, and returned to find most of the bundle at Kingshighway and Kathleen, police said.

James Umfress, service station operator of Southside Oil Co., South Kingshighway, reported to police Sunday night that a Negro male driving a 1968 black over blue Pontiac GTO left his station without paying for $4.10 worth of gasoline.

Jake Ward, route two, Sikeston, reported to police Saturday evening that three or four Negroes stopped him in an alley between Fuchs and Fekker streets Saturday, pulled a knife on him and took $40.

A Glison Guitar valued at $150 was reported stolen Saturday from Deal's Furniture Store, 869 West Malone, police reported.

A tornado touched down on the western edge of Wentzville today, destroying a root beer stand, a number of automobiles and overturning several house trailers.

The police department said the tornado wrecked the Dog N' Suds stand just across from Wentzville High School, but the school received only minor damage.

Police said a woman was in the roadside stand but her fate was not known.

Freak winds accompanying a thunderstorm caused damage in some areas north of Springfield this morning.

About half of the state park marina on Pomme de Terre Reservoir at Nemo, Mo., was damaged. One small boat was sunk. Other craft sustained only minor damage. The roof was ripped from a house at Nemo, but no one was hurt.

Trains, mail boxes and highway signs were blown down in an area between Springfield and Willard in Greene County. The top of a well house on the Tom Bird farm, a mile and a half south of Willard, was ripped off and hurled about 20 feet.

Three boat docks near Gravois Mills on the Lake of the Ozarks were destroyed and at other places resort docks were broken loose and floated into the lake.

An airplane, owned by Bob Hackett, Osage Beach, overturned at the Osage Beach airport, sustaining considerable damage.

City Offices Close at 2 p.m. For Funeral

All city offices closed at 2 p.m. today to allow employees to attend the funeral of Harry E. Dudley, councilman and former mayor, City Manager W. Raymet Miller said.

A replacement for Dudley will be appointed by the city council, probably after the regular November meeting, Miller said.

A special election is not required, because it is less than six months until the next general election on April 2, when the terms of Mayor Kendall Sikes and Councilman Taylor Niles expire.

Tuesday, October 24, 1209, Schlembaden, Thuringia -- Werewolves postpone their annual convention because of an eclipse of the moon.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Sikeston will miss the gracious presence of Mrs. James Kevil, who died Friday afternoon after a long illness in a Memphis hospital. Gladys street was named for her, a member of a pioneer Sikeston family.

At the time of her death Mrs. Kevil lived at 354 North Kingshighway but Gladys street played a prominent role in her 70 years of life.

Her father was Dr. O. E. Kendall and the family home was on what became Gladys street where the American Legion building now stands. The Kendall property covered much of the nearby area of Gladys street. When it was subdivided the street was named Gladys in her honor. Her name was Gladys Kendall.

At one time Mrs. Kevil and her husband, the late Jim Kevil, lived in a stucco house on Gladys street. He was a prime mover in the effort to obtain a new hospital serving the area, which became the Missouri Delta Community Hospital. Much of Sikeston's early history is interwoven with that of the Kendall family.

Gladys street always will be an appropriate memorial for Mrs. Kevil, a friendly, kind daughter of early settlers.

ST. LOUIS -- The long shadows of Memorial Stadium and The Arch lengthen this late afternoon, reaching across the Mississippi River to East St. Louis, Illinois; reaching through this happy sports event, this symbolic center of "Missouri - Mother of the West," but, unfortunately, reaching to death, murder!

TRAGICALLY, and only a few hundred yards from this inspiring all-American scene, a young white man was brutally, senselessly, beaten to death by a gang of youths, predominantly negro, and one of them is held by police and charged with murder.

INDICTED in this tragic thing are a few of the participants but indicted by the facts is the whole of America. The breakdown of law and order, the brazen defiance of the law - particularly by juveniles, and the nation's failure to punish them in the proper degree of their crimes are the factors inviting the tragedy of East St. Louis (and other similar tragedies all over our once-fair land).

THE GREAT SOCIETY has become a SICK SOCIETY. Politicians eager for bloc votes have pushed "civil rights" edicts down through the high courts and law-enforcement agencies until their irresponsible move through the nation with a sense of protection into demonstrations, riots, rape, arson and murder. Unearned rights, subsidized by unearned "poverty" payments, have assured the lawless that they can continue their lawlessness, unchecked and unpunished, until the God-and-government given rights of the law-abiding citizenry have disappeared into anarchy!

Sowers in the Rolla Daily News

About all some people seem to get out of education is to call their acquaintances down on pronunciations.

Occasionally the social planners' voice grows dim and the big federal government that knows what's best for all of us doesn't appear to be the efficient, supergiant that it has been built up to be.

By archaic bookkeeping methods, Congressional, meddling, action and inaction, politics and bureaucracy the post office department has taken its lumps.

Instead of praising it as the ultimate of socialistic dream, suggestions have been made that it be wrested from government and turned over to private enterprise.

Why? Because private enterprise must be efficient to be profitable despite all the barriers that the government and the unions put in its way.

To those who either look to government for perfection and womb-to-tomb personal security, a look at two enterprises is enlightening.

As the protector of us all, the government in its wisdom has ordered the Bell Telephone System to reduce its long distance rates three per cent.

The telephone company is a private enterprise concern, which is a model of efficiency. As a public utility it is regulated by the federal government, which by comparison is a model of inefficiency.

At the same time the post office department is pressuring Congress to raise postal rates by 20 per cent. If this request is granted not even a small dent will be made in the postal deficit because Congress always gives postal employees such a whopping raise that it prevents any reduction in the deficit.

There isn't any question which is the more efficiently operated.

There are two things no one ever avoided if he made himself liable: sea sickness and stage fright.

The best place to find a helping hand is at the end of your arm.

RURAL REVIVAL?

The United States envisioned by Thomas Jefferson was a nation of small, independent farmers, for he believed that "Those who labor in the earth are the chosen people of God, if ever He had a chosen people, whose breasts He has made His peculiar deposit for substantial and genuine virtue." Jefferson's crystal ball has proved cloudy. Today, 70 per cent of the United States' nearly 200 million people live in cities and towns comprising only one per cent of the country's land area. The farm population is down to around 12 million persons, and it is declining by about 4 per cent a year.

Federal officials, preoccupied in recent years with urban problems, have belatedly recognized that many of these problems are rural imports. The slums of the big cities are inhabited for the most part by uprooted country people with little capacity to cope with the stresses of urban life. It would seem to follow that city problems would be more manageable if rural people could be persuaded to stay where they are.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson attempted to put this idea across to small-town audiences during a tour of seven midwestern states in late September. If rural communities offered more, the First Lady said at one point, "perhaps the young people would come back home."

A National Outlook Conference for Rural Youth, scheduled to open in Washington on Monday, Oct. 23, will attempt to encourage state and local efforts to meet the needs of young people still on the farm. In certain respects, of course, rural areas need no help at all. As Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman told a Madison, Wis., audience on Sept. 23, "Life on the farm (offers) almost everything the big cities can provide -- except the congestion, confusion, grind, ghettos, unemployment, unrest, polluted air and dirty water that besmirch the typical American metropolis today."

When a man has his picture taken with his wife, he has an expression on his face that seems to say, "I know I'm not as good looking as she is, but I'm trying to look as pretty as possible." The result is that he looks about as tough as he ever looked in his life.

"One of the important reasons the federal government needs to adopt a greater sense of fiscal responsibility -- in curbing excessive spending and holding down the burden of taxation -- is that state and local governments also must look to the same citizens for support of their operations," noted Walter Rogers, former U.S. Representative from Texas. "When a clear delineation is lost as to the proper role of federal, state, and local governments. . . a clear delineation is also lost as to sources of revenue each level should rely upon."

The electric car has switched on a national current of interest. Battery-powered vehicles, which disappeared soon after horses gave way to the gasoline combustion engine, are being developed again. And they are being hailed as a potential, if only partial, solution to the growing menace of air pollution.

In Washington, Rep. Richard Ottinger (D-N.Y.) has introduced a bill calling for a government program to develop an electric car as an alternative to the standard gasoline engine automobile of today.

During a speech in the House, Ottinger said electric cars would reduce urban air pollution by two-thirds.

Ottinger believes that a modern, attractive, electric vehicle, which can match the performance standards of today, is not a future prospect but a present reality. Ottinger's vehicle was developed by the Yardney Electric Corp., New York, using its silver-zinc batteries and a Renault Dauphine body.

Major car manufacturers also are in the race to develop a similar car with the same type of batteries, far more powerful and compact than the standard acid variety.

Four such batteries, hooked to a 7.2-horsepower electric motor, were used in Ottinger's car. Mounted in the rear, the engine's drive shaft turns the rear wheels. The car has no transmission, oil, cooling system and, with so few parts, there's little chance of overheating, freezing or stalling, according to reports.

The battery manufacturer expects to produce car batteries by next year that have a range of 200 miles at a top speed of 75 miles per hour before recharging is necessary. Batteries can be recharged overnight simply by plugging them into any electrical outlet.

The cost of such a car? While it would be economical to run, its initial cost would be comparable to today's automobiles, mainly because of the $700 to $900 tab for the batteries, which need to be replaced every three years.

Presently, Ford is experimenting with an electric car equipped with a sodium-sulphide battery, and others are trying lithium, nickel-zinc, and zinc-air batteries.

The automotive world is full of "shocking" developments.

TOMORROW
OCTOBER 25 - WEDNESDAY
THANKSGIVING DAY or HURRICANE DELIVERANCE DAY, Oct. 25. The Virgin Islands celebrate the end of the hurricane season.

October 24, 1939 -- Women's hostility made of nylon was put on sale in Wilmington, Delaware.

Halloween night is for children, and motorists should make a special point of keeping this in mind wherever they drive on this night, Colonel E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, Superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, said.

"On Halloween children are going to be oblivious to the dangers of traffic," he stated, "They will be moving about through neighborhoods in their costumes, darting across streets without looking and chasing each other in merry fun-making. Drivers should expect them every place they go, and should slow down and be prepared to stop when they do see youngsters." The Patrol Superintendent then noted that parents have a special task on Halloween. He said, "Parents should make certain their children are easily seen by drivers in the darkness. They should make certain their youngsters wear something light colored and see to it that any masks do not block their vision. It is also a good idea to give them a flashlight to carry as an added safety measure."

Colonel Hockaday also urged would-be pranksters to think about the possible results of playing tricks on motorists. Scoping car windows, removing traffic signs, letting air out of tires and throwing firecrackers at passing motorists are among the practices mentioned. He noted that such pranks can cause serious traffic accidents.

"Halloween night is a night of fun and excitement for children," the Colonel continued. "However, it can become a night of tragedy if a child is struck and killed or even injured by a motor vehicle. I appeal to all drivers to use extreme caution and to keep alert for youngsters Halloween night."

VIEWES FROM MARS
"The American people, at some time during the past three years, made a deliberate decision to impose a permanently higher burden of federal taxation on themselves. They have, of their own free choice, decided to allocate a large proportion of their income to be spent for them by government."

This is the conclusion that an analytically-minded visitor from Mars would draw, if he were presented with the facts on government financial trends and if he were informed that we have a representative form of government, presumably responsive to the wishes of people. To a detached observer, this would be the logical interpretation of fiscal developments in the past several years.

If it is not so, if we have not made a deliberate decision in favor of higher taxation, we had better do something to change the fiscal trends which imply that we have. The first step would be to let our representatives in government know our real wishes. There would be plenty of people who would dispute the Martian

NEW YORK (AP) -- Memory is a great communicator. By linking the past to the present it enables us to plan or anticipate what the future may be.

Memory is both the keystone and springboard of thought. Even so, at the end of the trip where there are no memories to give your collar was pretty sure to them a framework of meaning, our thoughts would be no more than blind sparks in a void, brilliant but incoherent.

As we manufacture memories, memories manufacture us. And you've been a pretty busy assembly line yourself if you can look back and remember when--

It was a mark of social prestige to be greeted by name by the conductor of the streetcar you rode to work in the morning.

Every girl who didn't have naturally curly hair thought fate had conspired against her. Childhood was unknowingly cheated because all kids could do with gum then was chew it--no one had yet come up with the idea of building bubbles into it.

Men were divided into two classes--those who could grow a fine walrus mustache, and those who had to find some other avenue to distinction.

visitor's conclusion. They would try to explain that we haven't made any choice in favor of higher taxation for the indefinite future. A tax increase, if and when it comes, will be the unavoidable response to a military emergency forced upon us against our will. When the military emergency is over we can think again in terms of a level of taxation and federal spending that bears about the same relationship to the national economy as five years ago. So they would say.

But our Martian friend would find it hard to accept that explanation. If he opened the document entitled "The Budget of the United States Government", he would find that recent increases in government spending have NOT been concentrated in the military area. He would note that, between the fiscal years 1964 and 1968, cash expenditures for defense will have increased by 41%, but that cash expenditures for other purposes will have risen by 45%. He would also observe that non-military government expenditures tend to rise rather steadily year after year. He might be able to accept this philosophically, as long as the increase keeps pace roughly with the growth of the economy. Maybe the same thing happens on Mars. But he would be surprised at the magnitude of the rise in spending. Between 1957 and 1964 non-defense spending was rising at a rate of 8.7% a year. This was considerably faster than the growth of the American economy which, in dollar terms, was expanding by 5.3% annually in the same period.

The Martian visitor might assume at first that this indicated a willingness of the American people to devote an increasing proportion of their income to government purposes. But then he would note that the increase in MILITARY spending was comparatively slight during these years 1957 to 1964. This diluted the rise in total federal spending, and kept it within bounds. Because of the relatively slow growth in defense spending we were able to get by without a tax increase, and in fact had a major tax reduction in 1964.

But the Martian observer would really be puzzled at what has happened since 1964. Having learned of the military emergency which has developed in recent years, he might have expected that the growth of non-military spending would have been somewhat restrained. Instead it was accelerated! The projected increase in total non-defense cash spending between 1964 and 1968 amounts to a 9.8% annual growth.

Thus, even when military need have been most pressing, we have been expanding the non-defense spending of the government at a rate twice as fast as the sustainable growth of the economy. Any reasonable Martian would assume that we have opted in favor of a higher level of taxation as the new norm for the future.

If that isn't the case, and we have simply drifted in this direction against our real wishes, we had better tell our representatives in Congress so. They may not be able to avoid a temporary tax increase this year or next. But a real effort to restore reason in spending trends can avert the danger that we will move to a permanently higher plateau of taxation -- war or peace.

RACING TIRES UNFIT FOR

HIGHWAY USE -- make you feel ridiculously uncomfortable, but your date as factors catering to the pub-well. lic's demand for racier-looking cars and with some oil companies a good indication of how much touting the racing powers of their respect you have for others, but gasoline to the skies, it is a pretty accurate gauge of how probably only natural that many much respect you have for your young bloods are equipping their self. Proper apparel need not be expensive to be neat. Extravagance can even become offensive. This growing use of racing tires on passenger cars for street use travel is a practice that should be nipped in the bud, warns one and polished. *

There are a number of major differences between a tire designed for the street and one designed for racing, points out Harold E. Mills, manager of racing tire development for Goodyear.

Probably the most important is that race tires have no rubber sidewall protection for the carcass cord. This enables them to dissipate heat generated at racing speeds - 200 miles an hour and more - but gives them no protection from abrasion or weathering.

A passenger car has thick sidewall rubber to protect the carcass from curb damage and to withstand the effects of weathering and oxidation.

Another difference is in tread design. Most race tires have a compact design to give maximum traction on a dry track. A passenger car tire must have a more open design to perform well on wet roads.

Moreover, a race tire is designed for a much wider wheel than a passenger car and for considerably higher inflation pressures. If it is mounted on a passenger car wheel, the result is a small "footprint" and abnormal tread deflection. The tire will wear out quickly. "Take all these factors into consideration," says Mills, "and it is obviously safer and more logical to equip a passenger car with conventional tires designed for high performance on the highway rather than take chances with racing tires."

"FLAKE OFF, SLOB!" TEENS SAY
What do teenagers expect on a date?

According to the Catholic Digest, they first require physical cleanliness, proper apparel, and a neat appearance. Blessed are the clean of shirt, for they shall tidy up to assist Latin America the dates. Physical cleanliness seems so obvious that it hardly seems worth a mention. Yet why does it get mentioned so often when young people are discussing dating?

Parents say that adolescents don't have to be told to bathe, wash hands and faces, brush their teeth, clean their nails, or shine their shoes. But from what the adolescents tell us, some parents need their eyes examined. Today, perfume can no longer be construed as a substitute for soap and bath, nor powder for soap and agents trained for infiltration into Latin American countries.

Nearly 1,000 of these agents are in Venezuela. The steps proposed by Venezuela are sound tactics which No one is likely to make the mistake of wearing a formal to a picnic or shorts to a formal. It is routine occasions in between that cause the trouble. Incontinent or improper dress will not only DEMONSTRATIONS in Milwaukee, had also come to testify behind closed doors. He nodded his violent agreement.

"That's right," he said. "BLACK VS. PEACE POWER" Chambers kept talking: "Black people doing ordinary, reasonable, peaceful things in this country are attacked by the police; and the police are praised for it. And you talk about giving the police more money and more power...."

"You will appropriate all kinds of money to give the national guard increased training in how to wire us out. And it's a funny thing that in all these so-called riots, the police and National Guard kill far more people than the so-called rioters. And as for the sniping, don't you believe that. Why are no cops killed? They ought to be killed. I think the cops should be killed. I believe the National Guard should be fought like they are telling us we should fight in Vietnam...."

"We are being forced by police misconduct to fight together to fight the police. You know when I believe that singing 'We Shall Overcome' is an effective way to fight the police? When I see you send your marines, your army and your infantrymen into Vietnam led by the Mormon Tabernacle Choir...."

"We are going to fight you people like you fight us. And don't say I'm revealing too much, because if something happens to me, there are other people who come up. They killed Malcolm X and produced Stokely Carmichael and Rap (Brown). You can't understand why they hate white people...."

"A policeman is an object of contempt. A policeman is a paid and hired murderer. And you never find the policeman guilty of a crime, no matter what violence he commits against a black person. In Detroit, you were shooting 'snipers'. So you mounted a .50 caliber machine gun on a tank and shot into an apartment and killed a four-year-old 'sniper'. Father James Groppi, the militant little priest who has been leading Negroes in civil rights

"He gets a little older, so he can't be Little Black Sambo because he's too old for that. So you turn to good old Mark Twain, one of your great writers. And the black child grows from Little Black Sambo into Nigger Jim. And the white kids read this stuff and they laugh at the black child; and he's got to sit there and take it...."

"They use the term 'Nigger' on the floor of congress. And look at Senator Dodd -- good old Christian Senator Dodd; and then old black Adam Clayton Dodd. Dodd had more charges against him than you can shake a stick at, and in black and white from his own documents what he had seen you send your marines, your army and your infantrymen into Vietnam debating 'whether we are going to censure him or whether we are to reprimand him'.... Then here is black Adam Clayton Dodd where the charges are very nebulous and uncertain. But the real problem is that he was a black man with too much power. And he was uppity. And he acted just like you have always acted. So you kick him out and he is a bad man...."

"Some people there (in Omaha) call me militant. How can you call me militant when, in view of all these things I have mentioned to you, I haven't started a riot. I haven't killed a cop. You are looking at somebody who is more rational than any of you -- or some of you -- because some of you support the war in Vietnam, but you wouldn't support us if we burned down

A showoff was a guy who owned a wristwatch-- and bragged about it.

It was a personal triumph to ride 100 miles in summer on a railroad train and keep from getting a cinder in your eye. Even so, at the end of the trip your collar was pretty sure to be sooty.

If a fellow lost something and couldn't find it anywhere else, more than likely it would turn up later in one of his left vest pockets.

A spendthrift was a working man who bought a new suit with only one pair of pants. A sport was any man under 40 who owned a genu-wine Panama hat.

A dude was a guy who wore spats during the middle of the week.

Mother's Club Chili Supper Planned Sunday

The Mother's club of the St. Francis Xavier school Parent-Teacher association will sponsor its annual chili supper Sunday.

The meal will be served in the school basement from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. Homemade chili, relishes and pie will be served. A cross stitched quilt will be given away.

Just for a change: tuna salad sandwich mix may be spread on toasted, buttered English-muffin halves. Have the muffin halves piping hot, sprinkle the tuna mixture with minced parsley and serve right away.

To perk up that ready-to-heat chowder, you may want to add a little dried thyme while you are heating the soup.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Gilbow

Patricia Ann Naylor Pledges Vows With Louis A. Gilbow

DEXTER -- Arrangements of bronze mums and bronze and yellow pompons on two white columns decorated the Church of Christ for the Oct. 6 wedding of Miss Patricia Ann Naylor and Louis A. Gilbow.

An ornamental brass tree candelabra centered the floral arrangements. Two brass tree candelabra were placed on each side of the flowers. The candelabra were entwined with smilax. Church pews were marked with an autumn cascade of chrysanthemums.

C. B. Thomas, minister, officiated at the double ring ceremony at 8 p.m.

The former Miss Naylor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Naylor of Poplar Bluff. The groom's mother is Mrs. Otto Smith of Bernie.

Mrs. Anita Burton of Memphis sang "Tara's Theme" and "More." Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Miller of Sikeston and Ponna Clippard and Howard Jones sang the "Wedding March." Mrs. Miller sang "I Take The Dear." Mrs. Miller and Ponna Clippard sang "Walk Hand In Hand With Me."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown made of silk peau de sole and peau de ange lace. The softly scoop neckline dipped low in back and was scalloped. The three quarter-length sleeves were finished with a scalloped lace hanky cuff.

Both the bodice and the sleeves were covered with lace. Petite bows accented the center front and the sleeves. Covered buttons and silk loops were used for the back closure.

The controlled skirt was floor length with fullness in back sweeping into a chapel train. Motifs of the lace studied with pearls and sequins were scattered about the front and back skirt. A band of lace was inserted across the bottom of the train.

The bride's headdress was a mantilla of imported silk illusion outlined with a scalloped band of imported reemboiled Alencon lace. Motifs of the same lace were scattered about on fingertip veil.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white pompons and stephanotis centered with a detachable white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Phillis Taylor, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. She wore a tangerine colored floor-length crepe gown. The gown featured an empire waistline accented with a bow and elbow-length sleeves. A nosegay veil of silk maline was attached to a cap of velvet petals centered with pearl tipped stamens.

Mrs. Taylor carried pompon chrysanthemums with gold and bronze smilax streamers tied with contrasting burlap bows.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Anita Burton and Mrs. Kathy Burleson. Their gowns, headdresses and flowers were the same as those of the honor attendant except Mrs. Burton's dress was gold and Mrs. Burleson's, moss green.

Sandy and Jo Burleson, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Burleson were flower girls. They wore moss green dresses styled like those of the bridesmaids. Their headpieces were nosegay veils of silk maline attached to moss green bands. They carried pompon chrysanthemums. Jeffrey Burleson was ring bearer.

Reed Burleson was best man and Wade Burleson and Bob Shaw were groomsmen. The groom's attendants wore semiformal attire and white carnation boutonnieres.

The bride's mother wore a gold wool crepe sheath with beige accessories and a corsage of gold and bronze pompons tied with gold ribbon.

Mrs. Smith, the groom's mother, wore a tangerine colored sheath with a jacket. She chose black accessories and a corsage of gold and bronze pompons tied with gold ribbon.

A reception was held in Union Hall. Nelda Shaw was in charge of the guest book.

The bride's table was covered with a floor-length white linen cloth draped with net and moss

Canalou Club Sponsor of UNICEF

CANALOU -- Plans for a safe Halloween celebration are being made by the Canalou 4-H club, sponsors for Trick or Treat for UNICEF.

Next Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. a parade of costumes will kick off the evening's festivities. Mrs. Quinton Malloy has announced that children wishing to participate should be at Hammock's store at 6:30 p.m. The group will proceed to the Canalou gym where prizes will be awarded in four categories. Mrs. Dale Gesie and Mrs. Dick Whiffen, in charge of judging and prizes, announced that the four categories for costumes are the ugliest, the most original, the prettiest, and the most appropriate for Halloween.

At 7 p.m. the children will be escorted in six groups and supervised by adult leaders to Trick or Treat for UNICEF. The six groups will carry black and orange collection cartons bearing UNICEF's symbol. These cartons will be distributed by Mrs. John Buck, area assignment chairman.

After the collection refreshments will be served at the gym by the Canalou extension club.

During this refreshment time the coins collected will be counted and the amount received will be announced by Mrs. Nelson Gruen, chairman. This money will help finance over 500 programs designed for needy children and mothers in more than 100 countries.

All parents of the Canalou area are invited to have their children participate in this program.

Patricia Ann Naylor Pledges Vows With Louis A. Gilbow

DEXTER -- Arrangements of bronze mums and bronze and yellow pompons on two white columns decorated the Church of Christ for the Oct. 6 wedding of Miss Patricia Ann Naylor and Louis A. Gilbow.

An ornamental brass tree candelabra centered the floral arrangements. Two brass tree candelabra were placed on each side of the flowers. The candelabra were entwined with smilax. Church pews were marked with an autumn cascade of chrysanthemums.

C. B. Thomas, minister, officiated at the double ring ceremony at 8 p.m.

The former Miss Naylor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Naylor of Poplar Bluff. The groom's mother is Mrs. Otto Smith of Bernie.

Mrs. Anita Burton of Memphis sang "Tara's Theme" and "More." Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Miller of Sikeston and Ponna Clippard and Howard Jones sang the "Wedding March." Mrs. Miller sang "I Take Thee Dear."

Mrs. Miller and Ponna Clippard sang "Walk Hand In Hand With Me."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown made of silk peau de sole and peau de ange lace. The softly scoop neckline dipped low in back and was scalloped. The three quarter-length sleeves were finished with a scalloped lace hanky cuff.

Both the bodice and the sleeves were covered with lace. Petite bows accented the center front and the sleeves. Covered buttons and silk loops were used for the back closure.

The controlled skirt was floor length with fullness in back sweeping into a chapel train. Motifs of the lace studded with pearls and sequins were scattered about the front and back skirt. A band of lace was inserted across the bottom of the train.

The bride's headdress was a mantilla of imported silk illusion outlined with a scalloped band of imported reemboiled Alencon lace. Motifs of the same lace were scattered about on fingertip veil.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white pompons and stephanotis centered with a detachable white orcaid corsage.

Mrs. Phillis Taylor, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. She wore a tangerine colored floor-length crepe gown. The gown featured an empire waistline accented with a bow at elbow-length sleeves. A noisette veil of silk maline was attached to a cap of velvet petals centered with pearl tipped stamin.

Mrs. Taylor carried pompon chrysanthemums with gold and bronze smilax streamers tied with contrasting burlap bows.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Anita Burton and Mrs. Kathy Burleson. Their gowns, headdresses and flowers were the same as those of the honor attendant except Mrs. Burton's dress was gold and Mrs. Burleson's, moss green.

Sandy and Jo Burleson, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Burleson were flowergirls. They wore moss green dresses styled like those of the bridesmaids. Their headpieces were noisette veils of silk maline attached to moss green bands. They carried pompon chrysanthemums. Jeffery Burleson was ring bearer. Ponna Clippard, Reed Burleson was best man and Wade Burleson and Bob Shaw were groomsmen. The groom's attendants wore semiformal attire and white carnation boutonniers.

The bride's mother wore a gold wool crepe sheath with beige accessories and a corsage of gold and bronze pompons tied with gold ribbon.

Mrs. Smith, the groom's mother, wore a tangerine colored sheath with a jacket. She chose black accessories and a corsage of gold and bronze pompons tied with gold ribbon.

A reception was held in Union Hall. Nelda Shaw was in charge of the guest book.

The bride's table was covered with a floor-length white linen cloth draped with net and moss

Canalou Club Sponsor of UNICEF

CANALOU -- Plans for a safe Halloween celebration are being made by the Canalou 4-H club, sponsors for Trick or Treat for UNICEF.

Next Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. a parade of costumes will kick off the evening's festivities. Mrs. Quinton Malloy has announced that children wishing to participate should be at Hammock's store at 6:30 p.m. The group will proceed to the Canalou gym where prizes will be awarded in four categories. Mrs. Dale Geske and Mrs. Dick Whiffen, in charge of judging and prizes, announced that the four categories for costumes are the ugliest, the most original, the prettiest, and the most appropriate for Halloween.

At 7 p.m. the children will be escorted in six groups and supervised by adult leaders to Trick or Treat for UNICEF. The six groups will carry black and orange collection cartons bearing UNICEF's symbol. These cartons will be distributed by Mrs. John Buck, area assignment chairman.

After the collection refreshments will be served at the gym by the Canalou extension club.

During this refreshment time the coins collected will be counted and the amount received will be announced by Mrs. Nelson Gruen, chairman. This money will help finance over 500 programs designed for needy children and mothers in more than 100 countries.

All parents of the Canalou area are invited to have their children participate in this program.

CINCINNATI, (AP) — Oscar Robertson, who has been scoring about one-fourth of the Cincinnati Royals' points, ended his long holdout today by agreeing to a new three-year contract with the National Basketball Association team.

The terms of the contract were not disclosed, but Robertson will get an estimated $100,000 a year.

The Royals posted a 4-7 record on their exhibition tour without the 6-foot-5 Robertson, who has scored an awesome total of 16,410 points — an average of 30.4 a game — in seven NBA seasons. Last season, the Big O contributed 2,412 of the Royals' total of 3,487.

The Big O was the last of the major NBA stars to come to terms this year. Walt Chamberlain ended his holdout Tuesday by signing a contract with the Philadelphia 76ers that will pay him an estimated $250,000.

PANAMA CITY (AP) — Edward Fitzgerald of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Norma Heitzman of Nan Nuys, Calif., were announced today as winners of Panama's 15th international fishing tournament. Fitzgerald won with a 506 pound black marlin. Mrs. Heitzman led the women's division with a 466 pound black marlin. Both catches were made in Pinas Bay off the Pacific Coast of southeastern Panama. The tournament lasted from July 1 to Sept. 4.

ton and in the south, Dexter and Malden, meet in last games. First, the four have to win Friday.

Poplar Bluff must beat host Charleston while Sikeston is in a decisive game at home against Jackson in northern conference action.

Malden needs a win at East Prairie and has to win at Chaffee in southern action.

Dexter and Malden are deadlocked in the south with identical 3-0-0 mark. Poplar Bluff holds a slight edge in the north with its 4-0-0 slate compared to Sikeston's 3-0-0 mark.

Cape Girardeau Central visits at Kennett.
Non-league games finds Ste. Genevieve Valley High at Perryville; Ilmo-Scott City at Caruthersville; Piggott at Hayti and Kaiser, Ark., at Gideon.

The 1966 defending Southeast Missouri football champions Poplar Bluff Mules, undefeated through 10 games last season and with winning string of 21 games in a row, seem on their way to another undefeated mark. They face stiff competition in Jefferson City Nov. 3 and Sikeston Nov. 10.

They lead the area standings with a 7-0-0 mark and are the only team with a perfect slate. Sikeston is the only other undefeated team but it has been tied once.

The mules are the leading offensive team, scoring 211 points in seven games. Portageville is second with 180 offensive points.

In defense, it's the Poplar Bluff squad also, allowing only 39 points to its opposition. Sikeston is second with 42 in six games.

5. No. Carolina State 222
6. Georgia 143
7. Purdue 110
8. Wyoming 91
9. Houston 84
10. Indiana 48

Others receiving votes include: Missouri, Nebraska, Notre dame, Oklahoma and Tulsa.

The Trojans, 6-0 after defeating Washington 23-6 last Saturday, drew first-place votes from all 37 sports writers and broadcasters on the AP's national panel in the latest poll.

UCLA collected 303 points on a basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third fishing tournament. Fitzgerald won with a 506 pound black marlin. Mrs. Heitzman led the women's division with a 466 pound black marlin. Both catches were made in Pinas Bay off the Pacific Coast of southeastern Panama. The tournament lasted from July 1 to Sept. 4.

Colorado is third followed by Tennessee, North Carolina, Georgia, Purdue, Wyoming, Houston and Indiana.

The major gains were achieved by Tennessee, Georgia and Wyoming. The Volunteers climbed from seventh fourth after upsetting Alabama 24-13 and dropping the sixth-rated Crimson Tide out of the rankings.

Georgia advanced from eighth to sixth after walloping Virginia Military 56-6 while Wyoming edged from 10th to eighth. The Cowboys downed Wichita State 30-7 for a 6-0 mark.

Indiana took over the No. 10 spot. The Hoosiers beat Michigan 27-20 for their fifth victory against no defeats.

Colorado, also 5-0, takes on Oklahoma State, 1-2-1, this Saturday. Oklahoma State beat the Buffaloes 11-10 last year.

Backup QBs Now Getting Chance Around League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW YORK (AP) — The backup quarterback who sits on the bench with the headphones and thinks how much better he could do is finally getting a chance this season.

Kent Nix at Pittsburgh, Jim Hart at St. Louis, Gary Cuozzo at New Orleans, Daryle Lamonia at Oakland, Pete Beathard at Houston and Steve Tensi at Denver all are getting a chance to play after riding the bench behind No. 1.

Nix was a taxi squad man at Green Bay last season, seen only during the week while the Packers charged through the National Football League and then beat Kansas City in the Super Bowl.

Traded to Pittsburgh, where he figured to be No. 2 to Bill Nelsen, Nix was promoted to first string when Nelsen's troublesome knee gave out again.

The young man from Texas Christian set a Steeler record Sunday with 28 completions against Dallas.

Hart was supposed to tag along behind Charley Johnson at St. Louis. When Johnson was called into the Army, the Cards had to fall back on this untied rookie from Southern Illinois whose only pro experience had been completing four of 11 passes in last year's finale with Cleveland. Hart passed for four touchdowns Sunday against Philadelphia. When the New Orleans Saints traded their No. 1 draft pick to Baltimore in the deal that brought Cuozzo to the Saints, they figured Johnny Unitas' understudy would take over the job. Billy Kilmer had such a fine preseason record that Coach Tom Fears went with him for a time but seems to have shifted over to Cuozzo.

Lamonia played second fiddle to Jackie Kemp at Buffalo for years while the crowd hooted. Now he is No. 1 at Oakland and throwing his weight around the American Football League.

He passed for four touchdowns Sunday in the rout of Boston.

Beathard chafed under the restraining rope at Kansas City where he was behind Lenny Dawson. So he was traded to Houston. Although he completed only three of 14 passes Sunday, one was for a touchdown in the 24-19 victory over Dawson and his former mates.

Tensi, injured after he was traded to Denver by San Diego, threw for 234 yards Sunday in a losing effort against the Chargers.

Craig Morton and Jerry Rhyme are getting their chances to move the Dallas Cowboys while Don Meredith is out of action. Morton's third scoring pass Sunday beat Pittsburgh, with Baltimore's Johnny Unitas.

Joe Kapp, a Canadian League star, has moved in as No. 1 at Minnesota. He hit with 15 of 25 passes for 203 yards and a touchdown for 203 yards and a touchdown

Nine Named SHS Defensive Stars

Nine were named by the high school coaching staff this week as defensive stars in last week's 1414 football tie with Cape Girardeau Central.

Eight of those were selected as the linemen, the defensive line of the Bulldogs and one was named the defensive star.

For the third week out of six, left Halfback Mike Thrower has been selected as the defensive star. He is a senior, 175 pounds and plays middle guard, number 25.

Others on the defensive line include Bob McCord and King Sidwell at ends; Rufus Sumlin and Jim Denbow at tackles and linebackers Turner Marshall, Mike Garner and Bill Carr.

McCord, Garner, Carr and Sidwell are seniors. Denbow and Gross are juniors and Sumlin and Marshall Sophomores.

Jackson visits the Bulldogs Friday night at public school stadium for a Northern conference game and the SHS Homecoming.

Sikeston remains in the running for the northern conference title with a 3-0-0 league slate, second only to the league leading Poplar Bluff Mules' 4-0-0 mark.

The Indians are in sixth place in the conference with a 1-2-0 slate, their lone win over Kennett and their losses coming at the hands of Poplar Bluff and Cape Central.

Conference Leaders Must Win Friday

As the season ends draws nearer conference races have yet to be decided and could possibly be decided in the final game of the season. Both challengers in the North, Poplar Bluff and Sikeston, and in the south, Dexter and Malden, meet in last games. First, the four have to win Friday.

Poplar Bluff must beat host Charleston while Sikeston is in a decisive game at home against Jackson in northern conference action.

Malden needs a win at East Prairie and has to win at Chaffee in southern action.

Dexter and Malden are deadlocked in the south with identical 3-0-0 mark. Poplar Bluff holds a slight edge in the north with its 4-0-0 slate compared to Sikeston's 3-0-4 mark.

Cape Girardeau Central visits at Kennett.

Non-league games finds Ste. Genevieve Valle high at Perryville; Ilmo - Scott City at Caruthersville; Piggott at Hayti and Kaiser, Ark., at Gideon.

The 1966 defending Southeast Missouri football champions Poplar Bluff Mules, undefeated through 10 games last season and with winning string of 21 games in a row, seem on their way to another undefeated mark. They face stiff competition in Jefferson City Nov. 3 and Sikeston Nov. 10.

They lead the area standings with a 7-0-0 mark and are the only team with a perfect slate. Sikeston is the only other undefeated team but it has been tied once.

The mules are the leading offensive team, scoring 211 points in seven games. Portageville is second with 180 offensive points.

In defense, it's the Poplar Bluff squad also, allowing only 39 points to its opposition. Sikeston is second with 42 in six games.

This Week's Schedule Jackson at Sikeston + Cape at Kennett + Poplar Bluff at Charleston + Malden at East Prairie + Dexter at Chaffee + Valle High at Perryville + ISC at Caruthersville + Piggott, Ark. at Hayti + Kaiser, Ark. at Gideon + Conference Games

CINCINNATI (AP) — Oscar Robertson, who has been scoring about one-fourth of the Cincinnati Royals' points, ended his long holdout today by agreeing to a new three-year contract with the National Basketball Association team.

The terms of the contract were not disclosed, but Robertson will get an estimated $100,000 a year.

The Royals posted a 4-7 record on their exhibition tour without the 6-foot-5 Robertson, who has scored an awesome total of 16,410 points — an average of 30.4 a game — in seven NBA seasons. Last season, the Big O contributed 2,412 of the Royals' total of 9,487.

The Big O was the last of the major NBA stars to come to terms this year. Wilt Chamberlain ended his holdout Tuesday by signing a contract with the Philadelphia 76ers that will pay him an estimated $250,000.

PANAMA CITY (AP) — Edward Fitzgerald of Phoenix, Ariz. and Mrs. Norma Heitzman of Nan Nuys, Calif., were announced today as winners of Panama's 15th international fishing tournament. Fitzgerald won with a 506 pound black marlin. Mrs. Heitzman led the women's division with a 466 pound black marlin. Both catches were made in Pinas Bay off the Pacific Coast of southeastern Panama. The tournament lasted from July 1 to Sept. 4.

Southern Cal Solid Choice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Unbeaten Southern California, unanimous choice as the nation's top college football team in the latest Associated Press poll, has what appears to be a breather coming up this Saturday.

At that, though, the Trojans will be more vulnerable than second-ranked UCLA. The Bruins, who replaced Purdue in the No. 2 position, are not scheduled. USC goes up against Oregon, loser of five games in a row before its 31-6 victory over Idaho last weekend.

The Trojans, 6-0 after defeating Washington 23-6 last Saturday, drew first-place votes from all 37 sports writers and broadcasters on the AP's national panel in the latest poll.

UCLA collected 303 points on a basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third place vote. The Bruins also lifted their record to 6-0 by beating Stanford, 21-16.

Colorado is third followed by Tennessee, North Carolina, Georgia, Purdue, Wyoming, Houston and Indiana.

The major gains were achieved by Tennessee, Georgia and Wyoming. The Volunteers climbed from seventh fourth after upsetting Alabama 24-13 and dropping the sixth-rated Crimson Tide out of the rankings.

Georgia advanced from eighth to sixth after walloping Virginia Military 56-6 while Wyoming edged from 10th to eighth. The Cowboys downed Wichita State 30-7 for a 6-0 mark.

Indiana took over the No. 10 spot. The Hoosiers beat Michigan 27-20 for their fifth victory against no defeats.

Colorado, also 5-0, takes on Oklahoma State, 1-2-1, this Saturday. Oklahoma State beat the Buffaloes 11-10 last year.

North Carolina State meets Duke, Tennessee faces Louisiana State, Georgia plays Kentucky, Wyoming meets Arizona State, Purdue play Iowa, Houston faces Mississippi, and Indiana goes up against Arizona.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-8 etc. basis:

1. Southern Cal. (37) 370
2. UCLA 303
3. Colorado 283
4. Tennessee 228
5. No. Carolina State 222
6. Georgia 143
7. Purdue 110
8. Wyoming 91
9. Houston 84
10. Indiana 48

Others receiving votes include: Missouri, Nebraska, Notre dame, Oklahoma and Tulsa.

Traded to Pittsburgh, where he figured to be No. 2 to Bill Nelsen, Nix was promoted to first string when Nelsen's troublesome knee gave out again.

CANADIAN WHISKY — A BLEND — 80 PROOF — IMPORTED BY NATIONAL DISTILLERS PRODUCTS CO., NEW YORK

Elegant tradition:
The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada!

Tonight serve Windsor Canadian: the remarkable, sippin'-smooth Canadian that's already changing thousands of Americans' ideas on the whisky to serve.

Now compare Windsor! Pour two drinks — highballs or over ice — one with your usual, one with Windsor Canadian. Notice the superior smoothness and the flavor of Windsor.

That's because no other custom-distilled whisky shares these three extraordinary features:

1. Only Windsor Canadian is made from choicest northern prairie grains, bursting with fresh flavor.
2. Only Windsor Canadian is born of icy mountain glacial water drawn pure and clear from underground streams.
3. Only Windsor Canadian is aged in the incredibly dry air of Canada's Rockies. Where, nearly a mile high, it gentles to sippin'-smooth perfection.

Yet it costs no more than leading domestic whiskies, because we import Windsor Canadian, then bottle it here. Thus saving on duties and other charges. Compare the price and the smoothness of Windsor. Once you do, you'll never settle for less or pay more. That's tradition for you!

Cairo Circuit Clerk Indicted

CAIRO -- Pulaski county Circuit Clerk Mrs. Virginia Humphrey, 38, who is treasurer of the Illinois Circuit Clerk's association, was indicted by a Pulaski County grand jury on 14 indictments, three of which were on the charge of theft; 10 on the charge of official misconduct; and one on the charge of tampering with public records.

The three separate charges of theft, one in the amount of $600, alleges that on Feb. 7, 1966, she knowingly obtained or exerted unauthorized control over state funds in the amount of $600, by uttering a check drawn on the First State Bank of Mounds, made payable to herself, against an account held as a "Special Account" in the name of Virginia M. Humphrey endorsing the check, and converting the proceeds to her own use, contrary to statute.

The second indictment on the charge of theft alleges that she uttered a check to be drawn on the same "Special Account" in the amount of $2,000 made payable to Donald Humphrey, her husband, who endorsed the check and on Feb. 11, 1966, converted the proceeds of the check to his own use.

The third indictment for theft alleges that Mrs. Humphrey uttered a check to be drawn on the same Special Account in the amount of $750 made payable to Donald Humphrey who endorsed the check and on Feb. 28, 1966, converted the proceeds of the said check to his own use.

The Special Account consists primarily of funds paid by the state in connection with condemnation suits for acquiring right-of-way from county land owners needed by the state for the construction of FAL-57. Such funds, when final orders are entered in condemnation suits, are either paid to the owner or returned to the State of Illinois.

The current Pulaski County audit, submitted to the County Board of Commissioners, June 9, 1967, covering the period ending November 30, 1966, has the following statement in relation to the Circuit Clerk's "Special Account":

"No books were kept on the 'Special Fund' of the Circuit Clerk shown in Exhibit T-1 and schedule 20. This exhibit and schedule was compiled by reference to bank statement, cancelled checks, and deposit slips. The following checks were issued from this fund, and regarded by the Circuit Clerk as personal loans.

"Feb. 7, 1966, Virginia M. Humphrey, $600; Feb. 10, 1966, Donald Humphrey, $2,000; Feb.

28, 1966, Donald Humphrey, $750.

"My examination revealed that these loans were repaid as follows: Dec. 8, 1966, $2,000; June 2, 1967, $600; June 6, 1967, $750."

Other indictments included Official Misconduct as to $2,000, performing an act which she knew was forbidden to do.

Official Misconduct as to $2,000, performing an act which she knew was forbidden to do.

Official Misconduct as to $600, with intent to obtain a personal advantage.

Official Misconduct as to $2,000, with intent to obtain a personal advantage for another.

Official Misconduct as to amounts received from the State of Illinois, failure to report fees.

Official Misconduct as to amounts received from the State of Illinois, converting fees to own use.

Official Misconduct as to amounts received from various individuals, failure to report fees.

Official Misconduct as to amounts received from various individuals, converting fees to own use.

Tampering with public records. The indictment charging tampering with public records alleges that she (Mrs. Humphrey) knowingly and without lawful authority altered, destroyed, defaced, removed or concealed public records of the office of the Circuit Clerk of Pulaski County, including all duplicates of statements for fees of said office issued from December 1, 1964, through July 15, 1965, and duplicates of such statements numbered 1653, 1744, 1851 through 1854, 1879, 1898, 1900, 1902, 1903, 1916, 19644, 1951 through 1980, 1982 through 1985 and 1993.

One of the indictments, charging that Mrs. Humphrey converted office fees to her own use, alleges that she, in her office capacity as a public officer knowingly performed acts which she knew were forbidden by law to perform by converting to her own use fees of her said office in the amount of $3.50, April 18, 1966, received from Atty. Robert W. Lansden; $15 on June 1, 1966, received from Atty. Louis G. Horman; $63 on June 30, 1966, received from Atty. Byron L. Connell; $2 July 15, 1966, received from Atty. Robert W. Lansden; $25 Feb. 28, 1967, received from Atty. David V. Lansden; $2 Feb. 28, 1967, received from Nellie Cervantes; all received for such fees as circuit clerk.

The other indictment charging Mrs. Humphrey with converting fees to her own use alleges that as a public officer she converted fees to her own use in the amount of $80.50 August 27, 1965;

DEXTER - At a meeting in the Home Health Aide Center several cases of impetigo were reported by the home health aides over Stoddard county.

Impetigo is a contagious skin disease characterized by pustules and scabs or crusts, commonly on the face and hands but may appear on other parts of the body. If the condition is treated in its early stages it may be handled fairly easily. Cleanliness is important in the care and prevention of impetigo. It was emphasized, Special care should be given to see that each member use a separate towel and wash cloth to prevent the spreading of impetigo. The aides were told, Mrs. Marilyn Cox, health nurse and aides have spent considerable time with parents in assisting and advising them to see their local physician for medication as soon as signs of impetigo appear.

Two cases of cystic fibrosis were reported by the aides in the Puxico and Dexter area. The use of breathing equipment was discussed and the aides were asked to have mothers talk with each other so that they may have a chance to exchange ideas on the care of the patients.

Post-natal care and venereal disease were also discussed, with the point made that early treatment of the latter is the key to recovery and the prevention of spreading the disease.

$50 Nov. 1, 1965; $58 May 19, 1966; $20 June 25, 1966; and $24 July 27, 1966, all received from the State of Illinois for such fees as circuit clerk.

Impetigo Reported in Stoddard

DEXTER - At a meeting in the Home Health Aide Center several cases of impetigo were reported by the home health aides over Stoddard county.

Impetigo is a contagious skin disease characterized by pustules and scabs or crusts, commonly on the face and hands but may appear on other parts of the body. If the condition is treated in its early stages it may be handled fairly easily. Cleanliness is important in the care and prevention of impetigo. It was emphasized, Special care should be given to see that each member use a separate towel and wash cloth to prevent the spreading of impetigo. The aides were told, Mrs. Marilyn Cox, health nurse and aides have spent considerable time with parents in assisting and advising them to see their local physician for medication as soon as signs of impetigo appear.

Two cases of cystic fibrosis were reported by the aides in the Puxico and Dexter area. The use of breathing equipment was discussed and the aides were asked to have mothers talk with each other so that they may have a chance to exchange ideas on the care of the patients.

Post-natal care and venereal disease were also discussed, with the point made that early treatment of the latter is the key to recovery and the prevention of spreading the disease.

Cape Girl Wins Trip to 4-H Congress

COLUMBIA, MO., Oct. 25 -- Expense-paid trips to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago await nine Missouri 4-H club members named for outstanding achievement in their projects. They will make the educational trip Nov. 26-30, according to Frank Graham, director, extension youth programs at the University of Missouri.

Miss Carol Ann Wilson, Reeds, achievement; Miss Linda Jo Shilling, Joplin, dairy; Larry A. Little, Crane, safety; Larry Forkner, Horton, swine; Miss Carolyn Lang, Cape Girardeau, breads; Charles B. Mitchell, Broseley, boys' foods project; Miss Paula Morris, Walnut Grove, dress reuse; Claude L. Howard, Golden City, boys' public speaking; and Miss Linda Kukul, Bollivar, girls' public speaking.

They were selected on the basis of their overall development, leadership, and project record. Their records will now be placed in national competition for $500 scholarships.

Miss Lang, 18, has developed a specialty of making yeast rolls during four years she has been in the breads project. She has given a demonstration on making the rolls six times. The last time she won the 4-H district demonstration contest.

In practicing for the demonstrations this year she made 34 dozen yeast rolls and 21 dozen sweet rolls. In school, Miss Lang wrote a 31-page term paper on yeast breads. This summer she gave a three-week course on bread baking to 11 teenagers.

Miss Lang has been president of the Buckeye 4-H Club two years and a member of the Cape Girardeau County 4-H Council four years. She is a freshman at Southeast Missouri State College, where she is majoring in home economics. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Virgil A. Lang. The breads trip award is sponsored by Standard Brands Incorporated.

Equalization Board

Records Are Public

JEFFERSON CITY - Attorney General Norman H. Anderson ruled in an opinion issued by Charles B. Adams, prosecuting attorney of Adair county that the records of the county board of equalization are public records open to public inspection pursuant to Missouri law.

Anderson said Missouri law states that all records of the state, county and municipalities are to be public records except where otherwise provided by law. Public records are available for public inspection during business hours and under reasonable circumstances.

Anderson said a careful reading of the statutes creating the board of equalization and enumerating its powers and functions do not provide for a cloak of confidentiality.

Anderson stated that the records of the county board of equalization are public records available for public inspection subject to this right being exercised during business hours and under such reasonable rules and conditions as may be imposed by proper authority.

Cotton Harvest Picks up

HAYTI -- The cotton harvest picked up steam this week after a sluggish start due to wet fields late maturing cotton, according to the United States Department of Agriculture's cotton classing office.

Open weather accelerated opening and many fields were in shape for mechanical picking. Hand labor was used in some sections to harvest cotton in fields that were not sufficiently open for mechanical picking.

Wages for hand picking were steady at $3 per hundred pounds. Demand for the first ginnings was strong, and prices strengthened last week. Prices paid on local markets for strict low middling and higher grades with 1-1/16 inches and longer staples ranged from 28.50 to 32 cents a pound depending on the quality. Prices paid farmers for cottonseed at the gin were mostly $2.25 per ton.

The classing office has classed about 2,000 samples for farmers this season through Oct. 20. This compares with about 46,000 samples classed through the corresponding date a year ago.

Quality of the samples classed so far this season continues good. Grades were predominantly strict low middling and middling with staples ranging mostly 1-3/32 and 1-1/16 inches. Eighty-three per cent of all cotton classed so far miked in the premium range of 3.5 to 4.9.

Here are the Memphis spot cotton quotations for some of the grades and staples currently being harvested.

Middling, --- 1-1/16 inches, --- 30 cents;
Middling, --- 1-3/32 inches, --- 31.25 cents;
Strict low middling - 1 - 1/16 inches, --- 28.25 cents;
Strict low middling, --- 1-3/32 inches, --- 29 cents.

DEXTER - The resident jazz sextet of the University of Missouri at Kansas City will present the opening concert of the 1967-68 season Nov. 7 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium under the sponsorship of the WCC Stoddard county committee on the Arts in cooperation with the Missouri State Council on the Arts.

Another concert event is the series will be a vocal quartet Feb. 29.

Federal Cash to Aid Low Income Children in Oran

ORAN - An application for federal assistance for the education of children from low-income families has been approved for the Scott county R-3 schools. An allocation of $14,220.00 was available to the district and the grant approved was for the total available.

The title of the project is Improvement in Basic Skills. Activities in this project include the following: remedial reading, natural science, library services and clerical aides. It is expected that 155 public-school children and 30 non-public school children will participate in these programs after regular school hours. The library services will be available both during and after the regular school hours and will serve approximately 790 children of school age -- in addition to serving teachers and other adults.

Salaries for instruction will cost $11,685.00. Fixed charges, including rental of building, will total $1,383.00. Equipment has been approved for $1,522.00.

Four elementary teachers have been employed to teach in the remedial reading program. They are Dorothy Griffin, Darlene Tate, Dean Sadler and Earl Carroll. Harlan Sadler has been employed to teach in the natural science program in the high school. Alice Jackson has been re-employed to serve as the librarian for the district. Linda Evans has been re-employed as a clerical aide and she will continue to work out of the central office and under the supervision of the elementary principal.

Cairo Circuit

Clerk Indicted

CAIRO -- Pulaski county Circuit Clerk Mrs. Virginia Humphrey, 38, who is treasurer of the Illinois Circuit Clerk's association, was indicted by a Pulaski County grand jury on 14 indictments, three of which were on the charge of theft; 10 on the charge of official misconduct; and one on the charge of tampering with public records.

The three separate charges of theft, one in the amount of $600, alleges that on Feb. 7, 1966, she knowingly obtained or exerted unauthorized control over state funds in the amount of $600, by uttering a check drawn on the First State Bank of Mounds, made payable to herself, against an account held as a "Special Account" in the name of Virginia M. Humphrey endorsing the check, and converting the proceeds to her own use, contrary to statute.

The second indictment on the charge of theft alleges that she uttered a check to be drawn on the same "Special Account" in the amount of $2,000 made payable to Donald Humphrey, her husband, who endorsed the check and on Feb. 11, 1966, converted the proceeds of the check to his own use.

The third indictment for theft alleges that Mrs. Humphrey uttered a check to be drawn on the same Special Account in the amount of $750 made payable to Donald Humphrey who endorsed the check and on Feb. 28, 1966 converted the proceeds of the said check to his own use.

The Special Account consists primarily of funds paid by the state in connection with condemnation suits for acquiring right-of-way from county land owners needed by the state for the construction of FAI-57. Such funds, when final orders are entered in condemnation suits, are either paid to the owner or returned to the State of Illinois.

The current Pulaski County audit, submitted to the County Board of Commissioners, June 9, 1967, covering the period ending November 30, 1966, has the following statement in relation to the Circuit Clerk's "Special Account":

"No books were kept on the 'Special Fund' of the Circuit Clerk shown in Exhibit T-1 and schedule 20. This exhibit and schedule was compiled by reference to bank statement, cancelled checks, and deposit slips. The following checks were issued from this fund, and regarded by the Circuit Clerk as personal loans.

"Feb. 7, 1966, Virginia M. Humphrey, $600; Feb. 10, 1966, Donald Humphrey, $2,000; Feb.

28, 1966, Donald Humphrey, $750.

"My examination revealed that these loans were repaid as follows: Dec. 8, 1966, $2,000; June 2, 1967, $600; June 6, 1967, $750."

Other indictments included Official Misconduct as to $600, performing an act which she knew was forbidden to do.

Official Misconduct as to $600, with intent to obtain a personal advantage.

Official Misconduct as to $2,000, with intent to obtain a personal advantage for another.

Official Misconduct as to amounts received from the State of Illinois, failure to report fees.

Official Misconduct as to amounts received from the State of Illinois, converting fees to own use.

Official Misconduct as to amounts received from various individuals, failure to report fees.

Official Misconduct as to amounts received from various individuals, converting fees to own use.

Tampering with public records. The indictment charging tampering with public records alleges that she (Mrs. Humphrey) knowingly and without lawful authority altered, destroyed, defaced, removed or concealed public records of the office of the Circuit Clerk of Pulaski County, including all duplicates of statements for fees of said office issued from December 1, 1964, through July 15, 1965, and duplicates of such statements numbered 1653, 1744, 1851 through 1854, 1879, 1898, 1900, 1902, 1903, 1916, 19644, 1951 through 1980, 1982 through 1985 and 1993.

One of the indictments, charging that Mrs. Humphrey converted office fees to her own use, alleges that she, in her office capacity as a public officer knowingly performed acts which she knew were forbidden by law to perform by converting to her own use fees of her said office in the amount of $3.50, April 18, 1966, received from Atty. Robert W. Lansden; $15 on June 1, 1966, received from Atty. Louis G. Horman; $63 on June 30, 1966, received from Atty. Byron L. Connell; $2 July 15, 1966, received from Albert Andrews; $25 Feb. 3, 1967, received from Atty. David V. Lansden; $2 Feb. 28, 1967, received from Nellie Cervantes; all received for such fees as circuit clerk.

The other indictment charging Mrs. Humphrey with converting fees to her own use alleges that as a public officer she converted fees to her own use in the amount of $80.50 August 27, 1965; $20 November 17, 1966, received from Albert Andrews; $25 Feb. 3, 1967, received from Atty. David V. Lansden; $2 Feb. 28, 1967, received from Nellie Cervantes; all received for such fees as circuit clerk.

The other indictment charging Mrs. Humphrey with converting fees to her own use alleges that as a public officer she converted fees to her own use in the amount of $80.50 August 27, 1965;

THE REPLICA of a prehistoric Indian house of about 1250 A.D. has been erected in the museum of anthropology at the University of Missouri, in Columbia. Looking through the doorway are Mrs. Fred Schneider, museum technician in charge of the displays, and Dale R. Henning, director of American anthropology who directs the museum. The original of the house had earth heaped up around the base of the walls to keep out rain water; the panel around the bottom of the house walls is an indoor substitute.

Butler County Indian Pole House on Display

COLUMBIA -- A full-scale replica of a prehistoric Indian thatched roof pole house occupied about 700 years ago in Butler County has been erected as one of the exhibits in the Museum of Anthropology at the University of Missouri, Columbia. The museum, in Swallow hall, is open to visitors from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday; guided group tours may be arranged through the anthropology department.

The reconstruction is based on excavations by University archaeologists on the site of a Mississippian Indian (900-1700 A.D.) village known as the Turner-Snodgrass site a mile west of Neelyville. The researchers uncovered the incompletely burned debris of a number of houses, including the original of the replica, which radiocarbon datings indicate burned about 1250 A.D. Wall pole remnants or pole molds in the ground and position and type of debris were an unusually accurate record of the dimensions, type of architecture and of building materials in the largest house in the village, the one reproduced. Some additional details were obtained from remains of the other houses.

The museum reconstruction is 18 feet square, seven feet high at the eaves and 13 feet high at the ridge pole, and takes up most of one of the Museum's larger rooms. The walls are of vertical shaved poles about two to four inches in diameter set approximately 14 inches apart, with a roof summit beam bracing them at and providing support for the roof rafters. The rafters for the hip-type (sloping on four sides) roof also are of shaved poles and have a cross element or lathing variety senior. Miss Rosemary Adams, 1125 East Vandiver Drive, tied-on bundles of a slender, tall grass brought from the vicinity of the village. The walls are sheathed inside the poles with matting of canes woven together with fiber and suspended from the summit or eave beams, then tied to the wall poles. The canes, quite long and about half an inch in diameter, are closely placed in the matting and hung parallel to the ground; they give an effect quite similar to Venetian blinds. The canes also were "imported" from Butler county.

There are doors in what constitutes the front and the rear of the house; the doors and a smoke vent in the roof at the ridge pole are the only openings. The door openings were surmised from the ground plan uncovered and the smoke vent was based on the location of a hearth. A column in the museum room has been incorporated in the replica to substitute for the center pole that supported the roof of the original. Some other slight modifications have been necessary because the house was built on the floor at the Museum instead of outdoors. Since the original was on a sand ridge, the floor of the Museum piece has been covered with sand.

The original hearth, clay vases and bowls, stone tools and other artifacts found on the site are on display inside the house in the rooms. The walls are of vertical shaved poles about two to four inches in diameter set approximately 14 inches apart, with a roof summit beam bracing them at and providing support for the roof rafters. The rafters for the hip-type (sloping on four sides) roof also are of shaved poles and have a cross element or lathing variety senior. Miss Rosemary Adams, 1125 East Vandiver Drive,

Farmers in Minority in Four Bootheel Counties

KENNETT -- A Missouri Weekly survey shows that of the 35,000 persons employed in the labor force of the four-county Bootheel area, only 32 per cent of them are farmers or are employed directly on the farm as laborers.

A statistical study of Bootheel jobs and job classifications by Missouri Weekly shows that while some 11,592 are farmers or employed on farms, 10,099 Bootheel citizens are employed as skilled or semi-skilled craftsmen, operators and industrial workers.

The Missouri Weekly survey, made in cooperation with the Missouri University extension division, covers the Bootheel area of Dunklin, Pemiscot, New Madrid and Stoddard counties. Dunklin County leads the area in the number of persons now

A large category of Bootheel citizens includes those skilled workers such as carpenters, plumbers, electricians, tool and die makers and other similar occupations.

The largest single job classification in the Bootheel is for operators or operatives. This total - reaching 7,068 men and women - includes machine operators, factory workers of a semi-skilled nature and similar industrial and semi-industrial jobs.

A growing classification, officials report, is that of men and women employed as service personnel, which includes such jobs as beauty operators, barbers and others except private household workers. This category includes 2,337 men and women in the four-county area.

The Bootheel area has 5,634 farm laborers, the third largest job category in the four-county area. Officials note at one time this classification was the highest of any category in the Bootheel area.

The tenth job category is laborers which includes all non-skilled laborers excluding farm and mine workers. This classification totals 1,278 men and women in the Missouri Delta area.

Defendant enters a plea of guilty to both COUNTS and punishment is fixed on each COUNT at a fine of $10.00 and costs and 30 days in jail. If and when the fines and costs are paid in full, jail sentence will be stayed during good behavior.

THE REPLICA of a prehistoric Indian house of about 1250 A.D. has been erected in the museum of anthropology at the University of Missouri, in Columbia. Looking through the doorway are Mrs. Fred Schneider, museum technician in charge of the displays, and Dale R. Henning, director of American anthropology who directs the museum. The original of the house had earth heaped up around the base of the walls to keep out rain water; the panel around the bottom of the house walls is an indoor substitute.

Butler County Indian Pole House on Display

COLUMBIA -- A full-scale replica of a prehistoric Indian thatched roof pole house occupied about 700 years ago in Butler County has been erected as one of the exhibits in the Museum of Anthropology at the University of Missouri, Columbia. The museum, in Swallow hall, is open to visitors from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday; guided group tours may be arranged through the anthropology department.

The reconstruction is based on excavations by University archaeologists on the site of a Mississippian Indian (900-1700 A.D.) village known as the Turner-Snodgrass site a mile west of Neelyville. The researchers uncovered the incompletely burned debris of a number of houses, including the original of the replica, which radiocarbon datings indicate burned about 1250 A.D. Wall pole remnants or pole molds in the ground and position and type of debris were an unusually accurate record of the dimensions, type of architecture and of building materials in the largest house in the village, the one reproduced. Some additional details were obtained from remains of the other houses.

The museum reconstruction is 18 feet square, seven feet high at the eaves and 13 feet high at the ridge pole, and takes up most of one of the Museum's larger rooms. The walls are of vertical shaved poles about two to four inches in diameter set approximately 14 inches apart, with a roof summit beam bracing them and providing support for the roof rafters. The rafters for the hip-type (sloping on four sides) roof also are of shaved poles and have a cross element or lathing of shaved poles to support the thatch. The latter comprises tied-on bundles of a slender, tall grass brought from the vicinity of the village. The walls are sheathed inside the poles with matting of canes woven together with fiber and suspended from the summit or eave beams, then tied to the wall poles. The canes, quite long and about half an inch in diameter, are closely placed in the matting and hung parallel to the ground; they give an effect quite similar to Venetian blinds. The canes also were "imported" from Butler county.

There are doors in what constitutes the front and the rear of the house; the doors and a smoke vent in the roof at the ridge pole are the only openings. The door openings were surmised from the ground plan uncovered and the smoke vent was based on the location of a hearth. A column in the museum room has been incorporated in the replica to substitute for the center pole that supported the roof of the original. Some other slight modifications have been necessary because the house was built on the floor at the Museum instead of outdoors. Since the original was on a sand ridge, the floor of the Museum piece has been covered with sand.

The original hearth, clay vases and bowls, stone tools and other artifacts found on the site are on display inside the house in the approximate places they were found.

The Museum replica was erected by Dee Green, former director of the Museum, now at Weber State College, Ogden, Utah, with much of the general construction carried out by C. William (Bill) Rohan, 1501 Vandiver Drive, Columbia, a University senior. Miss Rosemary Adams, 1125 East Vandiver Drive,

KENNETT -- A Missouri Weekly survey shows that of the 35,000 persons employed in the labor force of the four-county Bootheel area, only 32 per cent of them are farmers or are employed directly on the farm as laborers.

A statistical study of Bootheel jobs and job classifications by Missouri Weekly shows that while some 11,592 are farmers or employed on farms, 10,099 Bootheel citizens are employed as skilled or semi-skilled craftsmen, operators and industrial workers.

The Missouri Weekly survey, made in cooperation with the Missouri University extension division, covers the Bootheel area of Dunklin, Pemiscot, New Madrid and Stoddard counties. Dunklin County leads the area in the number of persons now gainfully employed - 10,383 -- while Stoddard county is second with 8,662, and Pemiscot follows as a close third with 8,650 employed. New Madrid County has 7,598 men and women holding jobs, giving the Bootheel area a total of 35,293 holding some 10 general job classifications.

The job classification breakdown for the four-county area includes 2,854 employed in the professional classification, a category that includes doctors, nurses, lawyers and teachers, as well as technical and kindred occupations.

A total of 5,958 are employed in the Bootheel area as self-employed farmers or farm managers.

Some 2,549 are employed as managers, and this job category includes public officials, retail store proprietors and other types of store owners.

The Bootheel area has 2,291 employed as clerical workers. This category includes all who are employed as secretaries, office workers and other similar occupations.

Some 2,323 men and women in the four-county area are employed in a sales occupation, generally in retail stores, automobile agencies and other types of business firms requiring selling personnel.

Using Dried Flowers

use indoors in winter. Interesting ways of using these and other dried flowers are in article.

The gardener who grows flowers likes to keep them with him as long as possible. Given the right flowers this can be all winter.

The blooms of strawflowers, acroclinium, blue salvia, celosia and cockscomb, bells of Ireland, Chinese lantern, gomphrena, baby's breath, honesty and statice all can be dried for indoor use. Perhaps you already have a supply of these hanging upside down in a warm, dry place.

Next thing is to decide what to do with them. An obvious answer is to make mixed bouquets of them, of the type often referred to as "winter bouquets." But that's not the most interesting use for these blooms you've grown so carefully.

How about making a design of them on the underside of your glass-topped breakfast or coffee table? Fun to do, beautiful to behold! Arrange the blooms on a sheet of clear plastic cut to the size of the glass of your table. Glue them to this sheet. When your design is finished, glue the whole sheet to the underside of the glass. Then stand back and accept praise modestly.

A flower picture is a pretty way to use dried flowers. For use in a bedroom, mount them on a velvet-covered piece of cardboard, cut to fit any picture frame you may own. Plywood can take the place of velvet if the frame is to be used in the living room.

Just to be different mount the dried flowers on a piece of glass. Cover with another of the same size. Bind the edges of the two together with transparent tape and hang the picture in a window so the light shines through the flowers.

Flat flowers like those of pansies and cosmos, with the gray leaves of artemisia added for contrast, make a lovely picture used under the glass on a dressing table top.

These are just a few of the ways to use dried flowers. By growing your own from seeds you'll have a wide variety available.

Used Clothing Sought Through Poster Appeal

These two little Latin American children on the official poster of the 1967 Catholic Bishops' Thanksgiving Clothing Campaign serves as a poignant reminder to Americans to support the 19th annual campaign by bringing a bundle of used clothing, shoes and bedding to your nearest Catholic church during November.

Forgotten Front in the Asian power struggle shows signs of heating up again. Ambushes and border raids have been increasing along the Korean cease-fire line where the U.S. Eighth Army and South Korean troops have been on guard for 14 years. Twenty American and 80 Korean soldiers have been killed since last October, the United Nations command reports. North Korea also is stepping up infiltration of agents.

They Do Their Part

These boys, ranging in age from three to sixteen, are playing a quietly heroic role in the fight against muscular dystrophy. As research patients at the Institute for Muscle Disease, they are collaborating in vitally important metabolic studies designed to uncover the basic flaw in the chemistry of the body which results in this crippling and ultimately fatal disease. The Institute, a major scientific facility in New York City, is sponsored by Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America whose annual fund raising campaign is now under way.

Using Dried Flowers

use indoors in winter. Interesting ways of using these and other dried flowers are in article.

The gardener who grows flowers likes to keep them with him as long as possible. Given the right flowers this can be all winter.

The blooms of strawflowers, acroclinium, blue salvia, celosia and cockscomb, bells of Ireland, Chinese lantern, gomphrena, baby's breath, honesty and statice all can be dried for indoor use. Perhaps you already have a supply of these hanging upside down in a warm, dry place. Next thing is to decide what to do with them.

An obvious answer is to make mixed bouquets of them, of the type often referred to as "winter bouquets." But that's not the most interesting use for these blooms you've grown so carefully.

How about making a design of them on the underside of your glass-topped breakfast or coffee table? Fun to do, beautiful to behold! Arrange the blooms on a sheet of clear plastic cut to the size of the glass of your table. Glue them to this sheet. When your design is finished, glue the whole sheet to the underside of the glass. Then stand back and accept praise modestly.

A flower picture is a pretty way to use dried flowers. For use in a bedroom, mount them on a velvet-covered piece of cardboard, cut to fit any picture frame you may own. Plywood can take the place of velvet if the frame is to be used in the living room.

Just to be different mount the dried flowers on a piece of glass. Cover with another of the same size. Bind the edges of the two together with passepartout tape and hang the picture in a window so the light shines through the flowers.

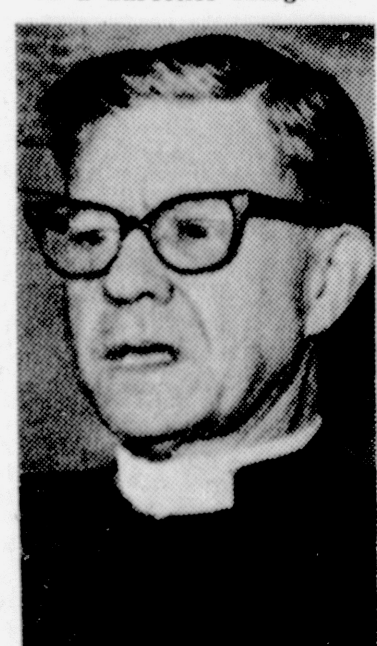

Flat flowers like those of pansies and cosmos, with the gray leaves of artemisia added for contrast, make a lovely picture used under the glass on a dressing table top.

These are just a few of the ways to use dried flowers. By growing your own from seeds you'll have a wide variety available.

Used Clothing Sought Through Poster Appeal

These two little Latin American children on the official poster of the 1967 Catholic Bishops' Thanksgiving Clothing Campaign serve as a poignant reminder to Americans to support the 19th annual campaign by bringing a bundle of used clothing, shoes and bedding to your nearest Catholic church during November.

Forgotten Front in the Asian power struggle shows signs of heating up again. Ambushes and border raids have been increasing along the Korean cease-fire line where the U.S. Eighth Army and South Korean troops have been on guard for 14 years. Twenty American and 80 Korean soldiers have been killed since last October, the United Nations command reports. North Korea also is stepping up infiltration of agents.

They Do Their Part

These boys, ranging in age from three to sixteen, are playing a quietly heroic role in the fight against muscular dystrophy. As research patients at the Institute for Muscle Disease, they are collaborating in vitally important metabolic studies designed to uncover the basic flaw in the chemistry of the body which results in this crippling and ultimately fatal disease. The Institute, a major scientific facility in New York City, is sponsored by Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America whose annual fund raising campaign is now under way.

ARMY PVT. RICHARD A. DUMAY, right, received the outstanding trainee award from Col. John W. McClain, during 2d Brigade graduation exercises at Fort Ord, Calif.

Richard A. Dumay Outstanding Trainee

FORT ORD, Calif. -- Army Pvt. Richard A. Dumay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver L. Dumay, 604 North Kingshighway was selected the outstanding trainee of his company during advance individual training.

He received the outstanding trainee award from Col. John W. McClain during 2d brigade graduation exercises.

His selection was made by officers and non-commissioned officers of the company and was based on his soldierly attributes, personal conduct and his ability to comprehend the training presented.

Dumay entered the army May 2. He is now in air borne training at Fort Benning, Ga.

Leathers Joins Vietnam Forces

PLEIKU, Vietnam -- Army Pfc. Ira C. Leathers, 18, son of Mrs. Susie Leathers, 27 W. Market, Dexter, Mo., has been assigned to the 4th infantry division in Vietnam.

A wireman in Battery A, 5th battalion of the division's 16th artillery near Pleiku, Private Leathers entered active duty in November of 1966 and was stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., prior to his arrival in Vietnam.

Kenneth Dumay Naval Aviator

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. -- Navy Reserve Ensign Kenneth M. Dumay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver L. Dumay of 604 North Kingshighway, Sikeston, Mo., completed flight training and was designated an aviator at the naval air station.

He received his aviator's wings of gold approximately 18 months after entering the program and about six months after arriving at Corpus Christi for advanced training.

Ensign Dumay has received orders to report to patrol squadron 18 based at Naval Air Station Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico.

Ensign Dumay is a graduate of Rockhurst College in Kansas City, Mo.

Dexter Marine Now Corporal

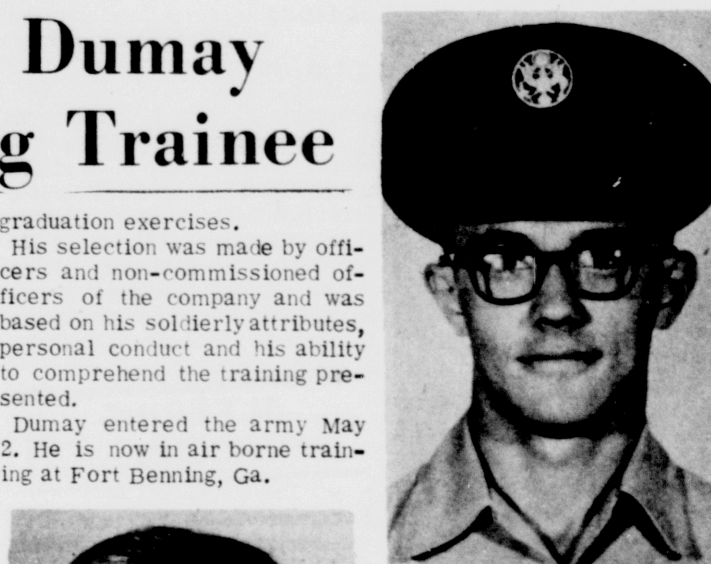

VIETNAM -- Marine Corporal Ralph Triplett, of Dexter, Mo., was promoted while serving with the first marine aircraft wing in Vietnam.

His promotion was based on time in service and rank, military appearance, and his knowledge of military subject.

In addition to attacking enemy personnel and installations, aircraft of the First Marine Aircraft Wing airlift troops to battle zones, evacuate personnel, fly resupply missions, and provide close air support for U.S. Marine and allied ground forces engaged in combat operations.

The unit is also engaged in a civic action program designed to assist the Vietnamese people in completing self-help projects.

Parker is a driver in the 541st supply and service battalion's 574th transportation company.

His training, which included five jumps from a C-130 airplane flying 170 miles an hour at an altitude of 1,250 feet, qualified him as a parachutist.

David Pemberton Joins Builders In Vietnam

WITH U.S. COMBAT AIR FORCES, Vietnam -- Airman First Class David L. Pemberton of 103 S. Sixth St., Charleston, Mo., has arrived at Da Nang Air Base, Vietnam, for a four months duty with a special air force construction team.

Airman Pemberton and his fellow airmen were selected from strategic air command bases throughout the United States. He will work as a mason with the base engineer emergency force team in Vietnam.

The air force teams, noted for constructing vital facilities at far-off locations in record time, are composed of skilled specialists on temporary duty from civil engineering squadrons throughout the United States -- ready to deploy wherever and whenever needed.

Airman Pemberton, a graduate of Charleston high school, is married to the former Doris E. Edwards.

Pencil Protector of Women

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in the advice you gave to the young woman who was afraid of self-service elevators. She said she had a terrible fear of being trapped with a man who might take advantage of her. Your advice was good, but it was incomplete.

Will you please tell your female readers there are several things they can do to protect themselves against an attacker. The following information might save a life:

An ordinary wooden lead pencil, rammed into an ear can be a lethal weapon. A woman who must walk alone at night from a bus should make it a habit to carry a pencil in her hand.

A sharp upward blow where the lip joins the nose can cause acute agony.

A hard kick in the groin can incapacitate any attacker. A woman in high heels can cripple a man if she stomps on his instep.

A sharp blow on the Adam's apple can cause an assailant to be breathless for at least five minutes.

Just remembering these pointers could mean the difference between life and death. Please print this. -- INDIANA

Dear In: In behalf of several million women readers, I thank you. Now, girls, go put a lead pencil in the pocket of your winter coat. And clip this column and put it where you can re-read it from time to time.

Dear Ann Landers: I am not sending my name or address because your advice won't help unless it is published. I want our 17-year-old son to read it. I am worried about his involvement with a 16-year-old girl. These two kids have been dating (or I should say talking on the telephone) for six months. Lack of money and transportation have been a problem (for them that is), a blessing for us.

The girl calls our son as late as midnight and as early as 6:00 a.m. I would not stoop to listening in on his conversations but I can't help but hear some of the things he says since the upstairs phone is outside our bedroom. From his side of the conversation I can tell she is talking pretty sexy because he frequently says, "Pipe down about that, somebody might hear you."

Several weeks ago I ran across a letter this girl had written. I telephoned her mother and invited her over to discuss it. She promised to call me and make a date but she never did.

What can a boy's mother do when the mother of the girl

doesn't give a hang? If it had been my daughter I'd have been there in 10 minutes. -- CON-CERNED

Dear Concerned: The mother's indifference to your phone call as he wants to. This is where parents of boys fail.

Confidential to Tired of Wishing, Ironing, Cooking and Screaming Kids: Welcome to the club. Did you think the honeymoon was going to last forever? Too bad you can't read over my shoulder for a couple of hours. You might consider yourself lucky.

Unsure of yourself on dates? Don't let him stay out as late as he wants to. This is where parents of boys fail.

If You Were the Judge

Fan Collects on Bad Baseball Pitch

By Jack Strauss, LL.D.

Frank's high temperature was due to the pennant fever created by his local baseball club. The more games they won, the more he got lost in the excitement of it all. It all came to an end, however, for at least Frank, when he got hit on the noggin with a ball. With a hot dog stuffed in his mouth, a beer in one hand and the other waving frantically over his head, he fell victim to a wild pitch. It had been thrown by a relief pitcher who was warming up in the bull pen located between the third base foul line and the grandstand.

The result? Instead of the World Series, the only series Frank witnessed was a series of medical tests that he had to undergo because of his injured head. And, in due course, he sued the owner of the baseball club for damages.

"When a fan goes to a baseball game," the owner argued, "He assumes the risk of being hit by a baseball. Any yoyo knows that."

"Baloney!" was Frank's answer. "While I'm watching the pitcher throw at a batter, how am I expected to be watching someone throwing at me? It's nonsense."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the owner pay for the misdirected baseball?

This is how the judge ruled: Frank won palms down. The judge held that a spectator at a baseball park does not assume the risk of being hit by a baseball he does not see, when more than one ball is being used, regardless of whether the game is in progress or not.

Leathers Joins Vietnam Forces

PLEIKU, Vietnam -- Army Pfc. Ira C. Leathers, 18, son of Mrs. Susie Leathers, 27 W. Market, Dexter, Mo., has been assigned to the 4th infantry division in Vietnam.

A wireman in Battery A, 5th battalion of the division's 16th artillery near Pleiku, Private Leathers entered active duty in November of 1966 and was stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., prior to his arrival in Vietnam.

Kenneth Dumay Naval Aviator

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. -- Navy Reserve Ensign Kenneth M. Dumay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver L. Dumay of 604 North Kingshighway, Sikeston, Mo., completed flight training and was designated an aviator at the naval air station.

He received his aviator's wings of gold approximately 18 months after entering the program and about six months after arriving at Corpus Christi for advanced training.

Ensign Dumay has received orders to report to patrol squadron 18 based at Naval Air Station Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico.

Dexter Marine Now Corporal

VIETNAM -- Marine Corporal Ralph Triplett, of Dexter, Mo., was promoted while serving with the first marine aircraft wing in Vietnam.

His promotion was based on time in service and rank, military appearance, and his knowledge of military subject.

In addition to attacking enemy personnel and installations, aircraft of the First Marine Aircraft Wing airlift troops to battle zones, evacuate personnel, fly resupply missions, and provide close air support for U.S. Marine and allied ground forces engaged in combat operations.

The unit is also engaged in a civic action program designed to assist the Vietnamese people in completing self-help projects. Parker is a driver in the 541st supply and service battalion's 574th transportation company.

graduation exercises. His selection was made by officers and non-commissioned officers of the company and was based on his soldierly attributes, personal conduct and his ability to comprehend the training presented.

Dumay entered the army May 2. He is now in air borne training at Fort Benning, Ga.

Pencil Protector of Women

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in the advice you gave to the young woman who was afraid of self-service elevators. She said she had a terrible fear of being trapped with a man who might take advantage of her. Your advice was good, but it was incomplete.

Will you please tell your female readers there are several things they can do to protect themselves against an attacker. The following information might save a life:

An ordinary wooden lead pencil, rammed into an ear can be a lethal weapon. A woman who must walk alone at night from a bus should make it a habit to carry a pencil in her hand.

A sharp upward blow where the lip joins the nose can cause acute agony.

A hard kick in the groin can incapacitate any attacker. A woman in high heels can cripple a man if she stomps on his instep.

A sharp blow on the Adam's apple can cause an assailant to be breathless for at least five minutes.

Just remembering these pointers could mean the difference between life and death. Please print this. -- INDIANA

Dear In: In behalf of several million women readers, I thank you. Now, girls, go put a lead pencil in the pocket of your winter coat. And clip this column and put it where you can re-read it from time to time.

Dear Ann Landers: I am not sending my name or address because your advice won't help unless it is published. I want our 17-year-old son to read it. I am worried about his involvement with a 16-year-old girl. These two kids have been dating (or I should say talking on the telephone) for six months. Lack of money and transportation have been a problem (for them that is) - a blessing for us.

The girl calls our son as late as midnight and as early as 6:00 a.m. I would not stoop to listening in on his conversations but I can't help but hear some of the things he says since the upstairs phone is outside our bedroom. From his side of the conversation I can tell she is talking pretty sexy because he frequently says, "Pipe down about that, somebody might hear you."

Several weeks ago I ran across a letter this girl had written. I telephoned her mother and invited her over to discuss it. She promised to call me and make a date but she never did.

What can a boy's mother do when the mother of the girl

doesn't give a hang? If it had been MY daughter I'd have been there in 10 minutes. -- CONCERNED

Dear Concerned: The mother's indifference to your phone call should give you a clue as to what had. You can do nothing but hope your son's upbringing will be enough for both of them. Encourage him to be honest and open. Without preaching, make sure he is aware of his responsibility to the girls he goes with. And put a curfew on the boy. Don't let him stay out as late as he wants to. This is where parents of boys fail.

Confidential to Tired of Washing, Ironing, Cooking and Screaming Kids: Welcome to the club. Did you think the honeymoon was going to last forever? Too bad you can't read over my shoulder for a couple of hours. You might consider yourself lucky. Unsure of yourself on dates?

The Prayer

From the Upper Room

You shall thresh the mountains and crush them, and you shall make the hills like chaff. (Isaiah 41:25 RSV)

PRAYER: O Lord, we thank Thee for Thy servants of old who saw work to be done and the challenge of Thy call to serve. Help us to give ourselves to the needs of our time. In our Savior's name and for His sake. Amen.

He has been assigned to the air force technical training center at Lowry AFB, Colo., for specialized schooling as a nuclear weapons specialist. Airman Kappler, a 1966 graduate of Sikeston high school, attended Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau.

David Pemberton Joins Builders In Vietnam

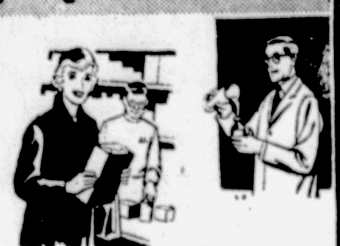

WITH U.S. COMBAT AIR FORCES, Vietnam -- Airman First Class David L. Pemberton of 103 S. Sixth St., Charles, Mo., has arrived at Da Nang Air Base, Vietnam, for a four months duty with a special air force construction team.

Airman Pemberton and his fellow airmen were selected from strategic air command bases throughout the United States. He will work as a mason with the base engineer emergency force team in Vietnam.

The air force teams, noted for constructing vital facilities at far-off locations in record time, are composed of skilled specialists on temporary duty from civil engineering squadrons throughout the United States - ready to deploy wherever and whenever needed.

Airman Pemberton, a graduate of Charleston high school, is married to the former Doris E. Edwards.

If You Were the Judge

Fan Collects on Bad Baseball Pitch

By Jack Strauss, L.L.D.

Frank's high temperature was due to the pennant fever created by his local baseball club. The more games they won, the more he got lost in the excitement of it all. It all came to an end, however, for at least Frank, when he got hit on the noggin with a ball. With a hot dog stuffed in his mouth, a beer in one hand and the other waving frantically over his head, he fell victim to a wild pitch. It had been thrown by a relief pitcher who was warming up in the bull pen located between the third base foul line and the grandstand.

The result? Instead of the World Series, the only series Frank witnessed was a series of medical tests that he had to undergo because of his injured head. And, in due course, he sued the owner of the baseball club for damages. "When a fan goes to a baseball game," the owner argued, "He assumes the risk of being hit by a baseball. Any yo-yo knows that."

"Baloney!" was Frank's answer. "While I'm watching the pitcher throw at a batter, how am I expected to be watching someone throwing at me? It's nonsense."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the owner pay for the misdirected baseball? This is how the judge ruled: Frank won palms down. The judge held that a spectator at a baseball park does not assume the risk of being hit by a baseball he does not see, when more than one ball is being used, regardless of whether the game is in progress or not.

SHY'S REXALL DRUG - Midtown Village

COLUMBIA -- "Our urban centers must be served in the future by our land grant university as rural American has been served in the past," University of Missouri President John C. Weaver has emphasized in his 1968-69 budget message.

Dr. Weaver first discussed the need for urban programs last April in his inauguration address and again in submitting his budget needs to the General Assembly. "It is my vision of the second century of the land-grant institutions that they must now prove that through teaching, research and service they can bring effective accomplishment to metropolitan America," he said.

Dr. Weaver said the University of Missouri is "uniquely qualified" to become a major force in metropolitan areas. It is the only state-supported, university-level institution in the state. It has the land grant commitment and has campuses in both of the state's major metropolitan areas.

Earmarked in the University's operating budget for the 1968-69 fiscal year is a special item of $350,000 for urban problem solving. This will be used as "seed money" to encourage faculty to develop innovative approaches for effectively relating the University to the people and problems of the major metropolitan areas. The University asked the General Assembly for a total of $78.6 million to support its operating budget.

Also asked from the State is another $62.5 million for buildings, maintenance and alterations, improvements and other capital items "to meet needs which have accumulated over a long period of time on the two older campuses and also to meet the massive needs of the two new urban campuses."

Outlined in the budget for urban problem solving are plans to enable faculty members to do research on major immediate concerns such as governmental organizations, transportation, air and water pollution, housing, education, human relations and other aspects of effective city living and planning. Also proposed are educational programs for translating the results of this research into useful action.

"The solving of urban problems is not merely the task of the urban campuses," said Dr. Weaver. "Both the Rolla and Columbia campuses have stakes in it too." "The state's extension service is part of the traditional mission of the State and the Land Grant University and serves to carry the educational activities of the University to all parts of the state," said Dr. Weaver. "A number of research programs have been combined centrally in order that more effective use may be made of the expensive, specialized equipment and facilities necessary to carry out these programs," he added.

Man Wants Wife to Know How He Feels
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Robert W. Scudder of Hot Springs sent $10 to the State Revenue Department for a "personalized" state license plate so he could show his wife of one month how he feels about her. He reserved "MY LOVE" as the license plate for her car. "Please stop laughing and send me the proper forms," he wrote the Revenue Department, "if this is available for a romantic husband." The department said the plate will be his since he is the first to ask for this combination of letters.

Club Opens Car Clinic

ST. LOUIS -- The Missouri Auto Club has opened its automotive inspection clinic in a one-story structure adjacent to club headquarters at 3917 Lindell Blvd.

The clinic was officially proclaimed open for business by Edwin M. Clark, chairman of the board of governors of the Missouri Auto Club, whose own auto was the first to be checked through the diagnostic lane where technicians and equipment can detect up to 500 deficiencies in any one car.

At a press conference held prior to the opening of the clinic, H. Sam Priest, president of the Missouri Auto Club, made the following statements:

"Serving the motorist is the Missouri Auto Club's only business. Many services have been added through the years and now, we are opening a new service facility designed to aid the motorist in determining the condition of his car.

"The Clinic contains the most advanced equipment available for testing and examining the components of an automobile. Our primary purpose is to provide members with accurate information about the condition of their present cars or of those they consider buying, and about repairs or adjustments that may be needed.

"The inspection clinic is independent. It will not do any service or repair work or suggest any particular garage. What our members do with the reports we give them on their cars is their business."

Clark said, "I am honored to have the privilege to formally open this clinic. It is an important event in the progressing history of the Missouri Auto Club. It adds another dimension to our many services. The Board of Governors approved final plans for this Clinic only after many months of study into the field of automotive diagnosis in Europe, Australia and New Zealand.

"Through the years the Club has aimed for the betterment of motoring and travel conditions generally, particularly in the fields of traffic safety, legislation, highways and taxation. This facility will provide a real benefit to members of the Auto Club in the present and in the future." The Clinic will be open only to members of the Auto Club. It will be operated under the supervision of Francis Oldham, director of technical services.

Jewelry Stolen In Bloomfield

BLOOMFIELD — The Kinser Jewelry and Repair shop was burglarized Saturday night. An undetermined amount of jewelry was stolen. The thief broke his way into the building by forcing the lock on the front door. M.U. President Calls For Urban Service

COLUMBIA - "Our urban centers must be served in the future by our land grant university as rural American has been served in the past," University of Missouri President John C. Weaver has emphasized in his 1968-69 budget message.

Dr. Weaver first discussed the need for urban programs last April in his inauguration address and again in submitting his budget needs to the General Assembly. "It is my vision of the second century of the land-grant institutions that they must now prove that through teaching, research and service they can bring effective accomplishment to metropolitan America," he said.

Dr. Weaver said the University of Missouri is "uniquely qualified" to become a major force in metropolitan areas. It is the only state-supported, university-level institution in the state. It has the land grant commitment and has campuses in both of the state's major metropolitan areas.

Earmarked in the University's operating budget for the 1968-69 fiscal year is a special item of $350,000 for urban problem solving. This will be used as "seed money" to encourage faculty to develop innovative approaches for effectively relating the University to the people and problems of the major metropolitan areas. The University asked the General Assembly for a total of $78.6 million to support its operating budget.

Also asked from the State is another $62.5 million for buildings, maintenance and alterations, improvements and other capital items "to meet needs which have accumulated over a long period of time on the two older campuses and also to meet the massive needs of the two new urban campuses."

Outlined in the budget for urban problem solving are plans to enable faculty members to do research on major immediate concerns such as governmental organizations, transportation, air and water pollution, housing, education, human relations and other aspects of effective city living and planning.

Also proposed are educational programs for translating the results of this research into useful action.

"The solving of urban problems is not merely the task of the urban campuses," said Dr. Weaver. "Both the Rolla and Columbia campuses have stakes in it too."

"The state's extension service is part of the traditional mission of the State and the Land Grant University and serve to carry the educational activities of the University to all parts of the state," said Dr. Weaver. "A number of research programs have been combined centrally in order that more effective use may be made of the expensive, specialized equipment and facilities necessary to carry out these programs," he added.

Dr. Weaver cited the space science research center, the nuclear reactor, inter-campus health related program, water resources research, industrial development program and trace substances analysis as examples of some of these research activities.

The regular budget request will be used to strengthen and to expand work being done at the University Center for Metropolitan Studies and for other extension services on the St. Louis campus. The needed funds will be used for additional personnel and resources anticipated for program expansions with the completion of a new building on the campus in 1969. The budget statement pointed out that more than 40 per cent of the state's population is within daily commuting distance of the St. Louis campus. Total amount requested is $312,136, and increase of $86,322.

The Division for Continuing Education at Kansas City is one of the most rapidly developing segments of the University's campus. The Division has established "a strong campus and community base" through such activities as development of management capabilities in both business and public administration, women's education, family service, cultural achievement, reading improvement and the like. The University requests $592,251 for extension services emanating from Kansas City, an increase of $84,769.

According to the budget request, the University of Missouri at Rolla has a unique advantage in its graduate engineering center in St. Louis, staffed by UMR faculty and attended by urban area residents. A greater awareness involves the advantage of direct contact with problems of the area and the association with professional people. For all extension service programs originating from the Rolla campus, the University has requested $226,982, an increase of $56,871.

Dr. Weaver said in his budget message, "the evermore complex needs of the social and economic life of Missouri call for and must be met by evermore effective research and public service."

Man Wants Wife To Know How He Feels

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Robert W. Scudder of Hot Springs sent $10 to the State Revenue Department for a "personalized" state license plate so he could show his wife of one month how he feels about her. He reserved "MY LOVE" as the license plate for her car. "Please stop laughing and send me the proper forms," he wrote the Revenue Department. "If this is available for a romantic husband." The department said the plate will be his since he is the first to ask for this combination of letters.

Club Opens Car Clinic

ST. LOUIS - The Missouri Auto Club has opened its automotive inspection clinic in a one-story structure adjacent to club headquarters at 3917 Lindell Blvd.

The clinic was officially proclaimed open for business by Edwin M. Clark, chairman of the board of governors of the Missouri Auto club, whose own auto was the first to be checked through the diagnostic lane where technicians and equipment can detect up to 500 deficiencies in any one car.

At a press conference held prior to the opening of the Clinic, H. Sam Priest, president of the Missouri Auto club, made the following statements: "Serving the motorist is the Missouri Auto Club's only business. Many services have been added through the years and now we are opening a new service facility designed to aid the motorist in determining the condition of his car.

"The Clinic contains the most advanced equipment available for testing and examining the components of an automobile. Our primary purpose is to provide members with accurate information about the condition of their present cars or of those they consider buying, and about repairs or adjustments that may be needed.

"The inspection clinic is independent. It will not do any service or repair work or suggest any particular garage. What our members do with the reports we give them on their cars is their business."

Clark said, "I am honored to have the privilege to formally open this clinic. It is an important event in the progressing history of the Missouri Auto Club. It adds another dimension to our many services. The Board of Governors approved final plans for this Clinic only after many months of study into the field of automotive diagnosis in Europe, Australia and New Zealand.

"Through the years the Club has aimed for the betterment of motoring and travel conditions generally, particularly in the fields of traffic safety, legislation, highways and taxation. This facility will provide a real benefit to members of the Auto Club in the present and in the future."

The Clinic will be open only

The day of the plain Jane economy car has come and gone. Chevrolet has something far finer to offer.

LONG HOOD, SHORT DECK

You get your economy now under Nova's new swept-back roof. You get your engine dependability under Nova's new long hood. You get your rust prevention beneath Nova's new rounded fenders and larger body.

SUPERLATIVE RIDE

You get the smoothest in handling, too. The wheel stance is wider, the rear suspension has been redesigned, and there is a new cushion-mounted front end. Nova feels like it's a thousand pounds heavier. It rides with amazing silence and smoothness.

NEW ALL OVER

The grille is new. The interior is new. (There's even a special custom interior you can order, the like of which no economy car has ever offered before.) The standard V8 is bigger, more powerful. So is the standard Six with its new Monojet carburetor that contributes to greater efficiency, economy and performance. There are many new safety features, including energy-absorbing front seat backs to go along with the proved GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column. And when you equip a Nova with the SS package, you look out over a special hood and black accented grille, housing a 350-cubic-inch Turbo-Fire V8.

Front to back, Chevy II Nova's now a driving enthusiast's kind of car but, fortunately for you, it still comes at a saving enthusiast's kind of price. Very low.
